ALMA MATER

Towering far above her neighbors,
Shop and mart and hall,
Stands the home of student-labors,
Noblest of them all!

At each meeting, give her greeting,
Raise the proud salute!
Hail to thee our Alma Mater,
Hail, Pratt Institute!

In our hearts her precepts linger,
Her example gleams,
Showing with unerring finger
Guerdon of our dreams.

At our meeting, for our greeting,
Bring her noble fruit,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, Pratt Institute!

Round the world the chain extending
Each to the other binds,
All her honored name defending,
Hearts and hands and minds.

At our meeting, give her greeting,
Raise the proud salute!
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, Pratt Institute!

For twenty-three years Head of the Applied Science Department of the library who has given himself unsparingly to making known the literature of technology to the faculty and students of the Institute, and by his contributions to technical bibliography has had a part in making Pratt Institute an international influence. All students unite in dedicating this Prattonia. 1933.

Whose kind and thoughtful deeds have brought knowledge and hap-

PRATT INSTITUTE has changed with the passage of the years, her buildings, methods, and customs have altered to keep step with the trend of modern times, yet her traditions live and remain intact. For the purpose of preserving these traditions and recording the year 1932-33 in the annals of Pratt history this PRATTonia has been compiled. We have sought to create a monument worthy of the Institute which it represents and to offer to the Class of 1933 a fitting chronicle of its achievements.

THE Prattonia Board extend their sincere appreciation to many members of the student body who have, through their splendid cooperation and helpful interest, made this book possible.

We wish to express our gratitude to our Faculty Advisors, Mr. Petersen, Mr. Gordon, Miss Duntz, Mr. Stevens, and Mr. MacKenzie, for their professional advice, kindly assistance, and tolerant understanding.

The Class Representatives are to be congratulated upon a truly difficult task well performed. We thank them for their fine cooperation.

To those concerns who have handled the actual completion of the book, we offer our sincere gratitude.

SCHOOL OF

THE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

OUR day school is devoted to the education of purposeful young men whose need is for a thoroughly efficient course in engineering, but who must restrict their investment of time, or money, or both. Pratt Institute's solution of this problem takes the form of broad and basic instruction in industrial technology, paralleling in general scope and content the four-year course of the typical American engineering college, but more practically and much more intensively presented, and greatly shortened in over-all duration. We have developed three courses, namely, mechanical, electrical and chemical engineering, enrolling this year 459 day students, the School's full capacity. Current trends in the composition of our student body, reflecting external conditions, are a marked increase in the proportion of very recent high school graduates, and a decrease in the proportion of older students with from one to several years' occupational experience after high school. We cordially welcome the former, while hoping that the more mature student may continue to be a substantial factor in our day classes.

In this period of economic distress and shifting conditions, the School has continued to grow in strength, carried onward by the Institute's steadfast and generous support, which devoted Trustees have maintained unimpaired, recognizing that despite unusual difficulties, the value of the School was never greater, nor the timeliness of its kind of educational service.

|N September, 1931, the class of 1933 began work on the construction of some forty odd Industrial Chemical Engineers.

During our first year on the job, Dr. Mantell instructed us in the erection of a foundation of our buildings. He soon had our hammers going strongly, riviting atoms into molecules and molecules into compounds. Mr. Hostetter was foreman of the mathematical end of the job while Mr. Schmidt saw that our structures were physically sound.

In September Dr. Rogers, that beloved father of all Pratt Chemists, took us in hand to instruct us in all the fine points which would make our structures chemically substantial. Some of the buildings were designed for Paint Technology, some for Tanning and others for Electro-Chemistry. Dr. Dixon was the assistant foreman in this work, while Mr. Hunter, Mr. Miller, and Dr. Thompson gave us instruction in the design of the mechanical, electrical, and mathematical rooms of our buildings.

Athletics again furnished our main recreation with the basketball, baseball, and swimming teams outstanding. Chemists also held the important positions in the Student Council, Prattonia, Glee Club, and S. & T. Convention.

Late in March, Great Grandfather Wohler presided (in spirit) over the Class Dance.

And so at last our buildings are completed. Time alone can tell if they are soundly built. Pratt Institute has fortified us well and of her we take our leave.

In the fall of 1931, there gathered in the halls of Pratt a multitude of embryo engineers, among them ninety who had ambitions of following in the footsteps of Ampere, D'Arsonval, Faraday, and Steinmetz. Their introduction to the study of engineering was informal, and exceedingly sudden. Without warning, they found themselves involved in a whirl of cupolas, catalysts, amperes, anvils, components, covered sines, foot-pounds, pound-feet, watts and "whatnots". After a year of trying to remember that tongs are not "pincers", sand not "dirt", "A.C. current" is not a good expression, and ammeters do not go across the line, the summer came, and went in too short a time.

The second year started with a few changes. There were new classmates, and gaps in the ranks of the old. "Engineering" became the watchword, with stress on the designing of structures and electric circuits and machines. Endless lectures and endless studying, far into the night, until, in spite of many apprehensions, the stamp of approval is affixed to us, and we find ourselves about to move on, into the depths of the depression, armed with slide rules, and handbooks, and fortified by the memories of men whom we shall always think of, not only as our instructors, but as our friends.

1933; Executive Committee, 1933.

A man from the West, where men are men.
Our water-power expert.

BURGESS, FRANCIS D.

Frank

4144 Glenwood Ave., Little Neck, N. Y.

They say he knows his osculations. Would you say he likes ■ "Little Necking?"

BURR, ROBERT E.

Bob

247 Elmwood Ave., Elmira Heights, N. Y.
Class Swimming, 1933.

Did you see that fellow going down Ryerson
St. with eight smooth gals? Yes, that was "Bob".

DAVIS, ALBERT F.

Al

129 E. McCreight Ave., Springfield, O.
Class Vice-President, 1933.

Much of the wit and humor of the class originates from Al.

PRATTONIA

DOERR, FRANCIS

Frank

81 Church St., New Brunswick, N. J.

The pride and joy of New Brunswick.
Usually conspicuous by his absence. They say he'll borrow everything but your girl.

EDWARDS, LOUIS T.

Lou

Main St., East Hapton, L. I., N. Y.

Class Bowling, 1932; Glee Club, 1933.
We often wonder if it is school work that keeps him up till all hours of the morning.

ENSLEE, DAVID S.

Dave

50 Pine St., Morristown, N. J.

Associate Editor Electrical Echo, 1932.
Our organ expert and class photographer.
Have you heard of the famous 37,000 circuits?

FARRELL, ANDREW R.

Ray

Lakeside Ave., P. O. Box 424, Darien, Conn.

Class President, 1932; Student Council,
1932; Prattonia, 1932; Glee Club, 1932;
President Glee Club, 1933; Vice-Chairman
A.I.E.E., 1933.

A man of affairs from whom we expect great things.

FRANK, HUBERT A.

Hugh

401 Becker St., Schenectady, N. Y.

Glee Club, 1932-33.

The walking question box. Will be an engineer, we'll hear from in the future.

GAMS, FRANCIS J.

Frank

North St., Pearl River, N. Y.

Is it just radio work that causes him to disappear into the wilds of Rockland County every week-end?

PRACTIONIA

GRAY, DOUGLASS W. F.

Doug

Toronto, Canada

Class Soccer, 1931; Prattonia Representative, 1931; Athletic Council, 1931.

"Doug" has still to be convinced that our American batteries are better than his Canadian batteries, although he does admit that we have some batteries down here that are pretty good.

GUILES, WESLEY

Chip

Silvermine Ave., Norwalk, Conn.

The boy engineer in short pants and white shoes.

HAMMOND, WILLIAM D.

Bill

Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada

Not much to say, but he's usually present when there's anything to be done.

HANCOCK, WILSON Y.

Willie

339 Main St., Metuchen, N. J.

Swimming, 1932-33; Manager Class Basketball, 1933.

A regular fellow eager to learn. It is said the girls "go" for him.

HARRISON, HARRY

Harry

969 Hoe Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

Associate Editor Electrical Echo, 1933.

The champion walker of the class. When Harry "picks" 'em up and lays 'em down," he goes places.

HASTAVA, FRANK

Frank

303 Beechwood Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

The sole reason the New Haven Railroad has not gone bankrupt. Bridgeport's pride.

HESS, SAMUEL B.

Sam

Route 2, Waynesboro, Pa.

He seldom has much to say, but he gets results that put most of us to shame.

HICKS, WILLIAM M.

Bill

Edge Hill Rd., Glen Cove, L. I., N. Y.

Class Executive Committee, 1932; Class President, 1933.

"Little Willie" the man to whom we all look up to. Over six feet of able leadership and personality.

HOLLWORTH, ALFRED

Al

79 Edna Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

Associate Editor Electrical Echo, 1933; Spring Prom Committee, 1933; Class Soccer, 1932-33; Captain Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1932; Captain Class Soccer, 1933.

A man of affairs, besides being a student with an enviable record.

HOLZDERBER, JOHN

Jack

37 Elm Pl., Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.

If success comes from hard work and earnest effort, "Jack" will get there.

HOWLES, ELWOOD J.

EI

42 Douglas Pl., Jamestown, N. Y.

The musical engineer. He can let things slide and still be successful.

HUPCEY, JOSEPH V.

Hup

45 N. Chestnut St., Beacon, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33.
Quiet, hard-working; a good student and a regular fellow.

KERSHAW, ROBERT H.

8419 133rd Ave., Ozone Park, L. I., N. Y.

Associate Editor Electrical Echo, 1932.
Massachusetts' gift to Pratt. A "regular fellow" who will make a good engineer.

KLEINMAN, REUBEN

Rube

144 Floyd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The ideal student; quiet, earnest and industrious. If hard work is the requirement of success, "Rube" should have no trouble in attaining his goal!

LaMONTAGNE, WILLIAM R.

Bill

16 Howe St., Lewiston, Me.

When there is fun afoot, or a party being planned, you'll find "Bill" in the thick of it. A believer in the teachings of Omar Khayyam.

LANZETTA, DANIEL E.

Dannie

157 South 9th Ave., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Captain Class Baseball, 1932; Class Basketball, 1932-33.

The class mimic. It's fortunate for Rube Goldberg that "Dannie" decided to be an engineer.

LARSEN, ARNE G.

Arnie

40 Ridge Rd., North Arlington, N. J.

Commutes to Philadelphia every week, but will give no good reason. Is the a blonde, Arne?

McCLENAHAN, WILLIAM J.

Mac

Class Baseball, 1932-33.

A hard worker. We are confident that the radio industry will soon feel the effect of Mac's graduation.

MACH, FRANK J.

Frank

Ocean Ave., Islip, L. I., N. Y.

Quiet and reserved. It's surprising what advantages such a combination give one.

McSWEET, ARTHUR

Mac

425 Shelton Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Class Soccer, 1932-33.

A bright student. Does anyone know why he's afraid of the Branford police?

MINKLER, ERNEST L.

Mink

88 Lander St., Newburg, N. Y.

School Orchestra, 1932, Class Bowling, 1932.

Whenever there's something happening, you may be sure that "Mink" is in the middle of it.

MONAT, MARTIN E.

Marty

462 Willoughby Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Soccer, 1932.

Quiet, but he doesn't miss much of anything that happens.

MOORE, CHARLES ALFRED, Jr. Charlie

223 Ryerson St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Vice-President, 1932; Prattonia Representative, 1933; Executive Committee, 1933.

"Charlie" works at night but manages to find time to participate in class activities and retain the distinction of being the most popular member in his class.

MORRISON, MILTON V.

Milt

9 Saratoga Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Treasurer, 1933; Spring Prom Committee, 1933.

Another engineer with a weakness for blondes. He has what it takes for brilliant success.

MURPHY, STEPHEN M. Murph
183 Filmore St., New Haven, Conn.

Class Baseball, 1932; Class Soccer, 1933.
Quiet, conscientious and hard-working.
Someday his name will grace a glass door marked "Private".

NETTLETON, SAMUEL L. Lou
Guilford, Conn.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Executive Committee, 1933; Athletic Association, 1932-33.
A regular fellow who can call every one of his classmates his friend.

OLEINIKOFF, SERGE J. Serge
23 West 124th St., New York, N. Y.

The pace-setter of the class in studies.
Truly "a scholar and a gentleman".

PERRETTA, ATTILIO Iron Man
715 Foster Ave., Schenectady, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1933;
Class Bowling, 1932-33; Boxing, 1932.
A former employee of General Electric, and, we are confident, one of their future executives.

PIRAINO, FRANK Frank
649 Rogers Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Ambitious, conscientious, and always ready for anything, whether it be work or play.

RISSMEYER, JOHN A.

Iggy

151-37 Springfield Ave., Springfield,

L. I., N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Manager Class Soccer, 1933; Class Basketball, 1932-33.

Tall and dreamy-eyed, but don't be fooled. An athlete and a student.

RUCINSKY, JOHN J.

John

766 Newbury St., Springfield, Mass.

Quiet and hardworking. Has a charm which dazzles women. Another regular occupant of the Ryerson Street reviewing stand.

SASS, JOSEPH P.

Joe

13 E. Pierpont St., Kingston, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1932-33.

They call him "Little Joe", but when you see him in action, you wonder why.

SAUTIN, JULIUS

Julius

Howes Cave, New York

Another who can take everything in his stride, whether it be work or play.

SCHATZ, FREDRICK C.

Fred

1319 Newkirk Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A good student not afraid of working hard in order to learn.

SCHREIBER, HENRY F.

Hank

808 West End Ave., New York, N. Y.

Former radio operator. A widely traveled man of the world, and need we mention his winning smile?

SCUDELLO, FRANK T.

Frank

83 Bay 44th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Boxing 1932; Class Bowling, 1932. Serious, well-mannered, and hard-working. If the demand for engineers is light, he can make his way via the "squared circle".

SEELS, HENRY F.

Henry

275 Eighth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Bowling, 1932. One of the few fortunate members of the class who seem to learn without visible effort.

SEXTON, CHARLES R.

Charlie

95 Columbia St., New Britain, Conn.

Boxing, 1932; Class Bowling, 1932-33. Handsome, intelligent, refined; in short, Pratt's gift to women.

SHEA, PHILIP J.

Phil

79 Elmont Ave., Portchester, N. Y.

The original ladies' man. "When is the next dance?"

SMITH, JOHN P. Smitty

St. Marks Ave., Islip, L. I., N. Y.

Executive Committee, 1932; Class Secretary, 1933.

Another product of which Long Island may be proud. When there is work to be done, usually Smitty will be found doing more than his share.

PRATTONIA

SOLOWITCH, JOSEPH Joe

85 River St., Oneonta, N. Y.

The man who will long be remembered by the phrase "cross-multiply". A regular fellow and we hope someday a successful engineer.

SPENCE, ARTHUR R. Art

937 East 22nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Manager Class Basketball, 1932; Manager Interclass Basketball, 1933.

A man of multitudinous affairs, who still has time to spare for the girls.

SPRINGER, CHARLES G. Charlie

30 Kelsey Rd., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Basketball, 1932-33.

Athlete, student, and we are sure some day a successful engineer.

STRINGER, GEORGE L. George

25 East 48th St., New York, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Treasurer A.I.E.E., 1933; Class Bowling, 1932.

When better questions are asked, George will ask them. The type of fellow everyone likes.

THRANHARDT, HAROLD E. Doc
4 North St., South Hadley Falls, Mass.
Class Soccer, 1933; Class Swimming, 1933.
Another of the strong, silent type who seem to get results with very little noise.

TIFFANY, ALAN N. Tiff
16 Wesley St., Ansonia, Conn.
Literary Editor Prattonia, 1933; Secretary
A.I.E.E., 1933; Executive Committee, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1932; Spring Prom Committee, 1933.
Quiet, unassuming. When there is work to be done, "Tiff" is usually among those doing most of it.

TIFT, JAMES L. Jim
536 Water St., Haverhill, Mass.
Although nothing serious has happened,
we fear his collection of complicated technical terms will strangle him yet.

TRIOLO, FRANK J. Frank
6516 11th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Boxing, 1932-33.
Another proponent of the "manly art".

TROUP, JERRY R. Jerry
Monroe, New York
Class Basketball, 1933; Class Baseball,
1933; Class Swimming, 1933.
An athlete and a student who believes in being sure before going ahead with anything.

VASSO, JOHN W.

John

306 Hillside Ave., Torrington, Conn.

Famous for the question, "Has anybody got a cigarette?"

WATKINSON, LAWRENCE N.

Larry

124 Grove St., Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

Varsity Baseball, 1932-33; Class Basketball, 1933; Class Swimming, 1932-33.

Noted for athletic prowess and clear, straight thinking.

WILCOX, ROY M.

67 Douglas Cr., Toronto, Canada

Although he hails from Canada, he has characteristics of a Missourian. The original "show me" man.

WUST, WILLIAM M.

Willie

146-01 Shelton Ave., Jamaica, L. I., N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1933; Class Swimming, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1932-33.

Athlete and sincere student. If there is a laugh anywhere in his vicinity he can find it.

YOUNG, SANFORD G.

Sandy

Averill Park, New York

Glee Club, 1932-33.

Our sample of what the well-dressed man should wear. Humor, and an infectious laugh distinguish him.

ZEITELL, ALBERT K. Zi
3040 Cruger Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932; Manager Class Swimming, 1933.

The set of his chin denotes the determination with which he attacks his problems.

ZILLAFRO, JACK A. Jack

Rixford, Pa.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1932.

An athlete and an engineer. Famous for his cheery smile.

ZIMMERLI, HERBERT E. Herb
134 Warwick St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932-33.

Last, but not least, the man with the distinction of being the only one to wear a mustache during his first year at Pratt. More power to you, Herb.

STORIES usually end with, "they lived happily ever after". In reality that is only the beginning; from then on comes the real test of skill, management and experience.

So it is with us. After graduation comes the real test. We have economic conditions to meet that have never before been faced by the young people of the world. The practicing engineers have worked so cleverly and thoroughly and with so little heed to the results of their skill that even they have suffered because of it.

We engineers of tomorrow must build differently. We cannot be engineers alone but must be economists as well. Before the design is finished we must know and appreciate its effects on our fellow men. We must live for them and not by them.

CLASS OFFICERS

ROGER E. REATH

PRESIDENT

GOESTA E. HULTIN

VICE-PRESIDENT

FRANK BARES

SECRETARY

HENRY BERNADT, Jr.

TREASURER

ADAMS, ALBERT C.

Al

1714 Compton Rd., Cleveland, Ohio.

Engineering to "Al" is both work and play. His proficiency in solving problems proves his grasp of his chosen profession.

BADAY, NICHOLAS K.

Nick

1496 St. Marks Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

What makes you so easy to get along with, "Nick"? "Nick's" the man who is able to do things when others fail.

BALDWIN, NORMAN F.

Norm

Farm Hill Rd., Middletown, Conn.

Class Swimming, 1932-33.

"Norm" is among those fellows who goes into most every sport for the pleasure of playing the game. Also knows how to study.

BALLIN, MORRIS L.

Morris

1030 Hopkinson Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The man about town. Always comes on time like Jimmy Walker. The quickest way to get on your feet Morris, is to sell that Whippet car of yours.

BARES, FRANK

Weedie

273 Plank Rd., Waterbury, Conn.

Class Soccer, 1932; Class Bowling, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Basketball, 1933; Vice-President A.S.M.E., 1933; Class Secretary, 1933.

"Weedie" is strong, silent and handsome, but afraid of anything feminine. Has a complex for music. It is reported that he was once seen at a Pratt dance.

PRATTONIA

BEHRENS, JOHN R.

Johnny

761 Prospect Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1932-33.

The goalie on the soccer team, guard in basketball, and generally one of the most active men in class.

BERGREN, NELSEN J.

Nelsen

Robert St., Burnside, Conn.

A quiet and easy going chap from the Connecticut insurance city. It is whispered that he is popular with the opposite sex.

BERNADT, HENRY

Hank

950 Harrison Ave., Schenectady, N. Y.

Class Treasurer, 1933; Editor Mech Review, 1933; Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Swimming, 1933; Captain Class Bowling, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1932-33.

"Hank" earned his spurs in the G.E. plant and is one of the most promising engineers at Pratt. Has an original "Stein Song" he likes to sing.

BICKNELL, ROBERT A.

Bob

12 Lansing Ave., Troy, N. Y.

Glee Club, 1932-33.

The stabilizing influence of the second section. Quiet and always hard at work. By the way, we wonder who sends "Bob" all the mail from up-state?

BRANDELY, RALPH R.

Ralph

Hungerford Ave., Oakville, Conn.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Bowling, 1932-33.

A clever, efficient man who can look on the bright side of things and get his work done in the bargain.

CAPPELLO, NICHOLAS J. Nick

21 First Ave., Whitehall, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1932; Class Bowling, 1932-33; Varsity Baseball, 1932-33.

Everyone knows and likes "Nick"—one of the proverbial good things that come in little packages. His studies, however, have not been confined to the S. & T. School.

CROY, GEORGE S. George

16 Abbott Ave., Morristown, N. J.

Quiet, persevering and ambitious. George is always at work. Still, he doesn't miss anything that goes on outside.

DAMATO, JAMES V. Jimmy

162 Hall St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Jimmy" is a true gentleman. He is never too busy to help his neighbor.

DUNBRACK, ALVIN P. Al

172 Arlington Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

Manager Class Baseball, 1931; Class Soccer, 1932.

"Al" came back to Pratt after being out a year and in two days was acquainted with everyone. A man's man with the ladies edging in.

EKEGREN, OSCAR J. Oscar

304 32nd St., Woodcliff, N. J.

Oscar has no competition when it comes to work. Labors all night and studies all day —don't even see him eat, let alone sleep!

ERWIN, JOHN F.

John

Mechanic St., Newport, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932; Class Basketball, 1933.

John can show the city boys a few tricks though he hails from the "up-country". He's a regular "man-about-town" over in New York.

FAHY, FRANCIS LEO

Bud

420 Pequonnock St., Bridgeport, Conn.

Assistant Cheer-leader, 1932; Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Basketball, 1932-33.

We all like "Bud", the whole five feet; best dancer in all the schools combined. He is a typical Irishman and brags about it.

FISCHER, HERBERT O. A.

Herby

47 Colfax St., Springfield, Mass.

Class Swimming, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1933.

"Herby", noted for his German songs and pleasing personality, has earned the title, "The Life of the Party". More power to you, Herb.

FREDRICKSON, HENRY W.

Bill

912 13th St., Galveston, Texas.

Class Swimming, 1932.

Easy-going but a brute for work. How he likes that lunchroom at noontime.

GALLER, OSCAR

Oscar

501 Van Buren St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1931-33; Class Basketball, 1931; Class Baseball, 1931; Orchestra (S. & T.), 1931.

Oscar always has his work up to date. This is unusual but so is Oscar.

GLASSER, HOWARD C. Howie

336 Laurelton Rd., Rochester, N. Y.

Class Swimming, 1932-33; Manager Bowling, 1932; Secretary-Treasurer A.S.M.E. 1933.

Chief pilot for those tripping to New York. It is whispered that "Howie" has another big interest back in the home town.

PRATTONIA

GOLDBERGER, FRANK J. Goldie

335 Washington Ave., Cedarhurst, L. I., N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1933; Class Soccer, 1933; Class Baseball, 1932-33.

Commuter from somewhere south of Pratt. He performs most of his brain labors while hoofing up Green Avenue.

GROHS, HAROLD F. Grossie

401 S. Leonard St., Waterbury, Conn.

"Grossie" has helped more machinists and would-be machinists over the tough spots than there are here at Pratt. Does he know machinery!

GRUNECK, THEODORE R. Ted

27 Sixth St., Pelham, N. Y.

Associate Editor Mech Review, 1933; Circulation Manager Prattonia, 1933.

A hard worker and a real go-getter. And when it comes to the Pratt co-eds—he leads the way for us all.

HALLOCK, ALBERT W. Al

943 81st St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Cousin Al" and "Cousin Don Hawkins" came to school together in a Ford—of course they were not always on time.

HANSEL, HENRY

Shorty

Prospect Ave., Dunellen, N. J.

Six foot five, size twelve shoes, a hard and serious worker, and a great fellow. Is he not comparable with "Abe" Lincoln?

HARRIS, RICHARD

Dick

523 West 121st St., New York, N. Y.

"Dick" can't figure it out—the only time that he comes in without his work done is the very time he has to go to the board.

HATCH, GORDON H.

Gordon

Beaver Brook, Danbury, Conn.

A mainstay on the stag line at the dances and is a boon to the fellows who dragged beautiful, but dumb, co-eds.

HAWKINS, DONALD R.

Don

Lake Ronkonkoma, L. I., N. Y.

"Cousin Don" and "Cousin Al Hallock" also eat lunch together in the same place and are alike in their ways.

HEIVELY, HAROLD

Hatt

348 Glover St., Jersey Shore, Pa.

Class Basketball, 1932.

"Hatt's" so short one thinks that he's standing in a hole. We like his ready laugh and "eager to do something" style.

HENRY, FRANCIS D.

Brick

144 Kent St., Albany, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1933; Class Boxing, 1932; Class Basketball, 1933.

As his name implies he's a "Brick" and will stick to the finish. Hope he will give us a ride on his "Iron Horse" someday.

HERRICK, WILLIAM WILSON

Bill

24 Ocean Drive West, Stamford, Conn.

"Bill" commutes from Stamford and wants a "coffee and rolls" service for the early arrivals at the Men's Club.

HITZ, RUSSELL C.

Russ

422 Classon Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Dance Committee, 1932.

"Russ" supported the school dances and was always in the center of the social whirl. He lived up to a "rep" his brother left behind.

HOBBS, EDGAR H.

Ed

183 Division St., Schenectady, N. Y.

Manager Class Soccer, 1932; Manager Inter-Class Soccer, 1933; Class Bowling, 1932-33; Class Swimming, 1932.

Another Schenectady G. E. man. Always a conscientious student who spends his spare time following his hobby—making models. Has a weakness for nurses.

HOBLER, ALFRED F.

Freddy

543 Hudson Ave., Weehawken, N. J.

"Fred" would rather dance than eat but he prefers sleeping to dancing.

PRATTONIA

HULTIN, GOESTA E.

Gus

33 Nichols St., Ansonia, Conn.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Vice-President, 1933; Business Manager Mech Review, 1933.

When it comes to school work, Gus is one of the Mechanical's mainstays. We understand he hopes to be the mainstay for a certain party back home.

HYDE, WILLIAM H.

Bill

P. O. 33, Derrick City, Pa.

"Bill" wants to make a pot-boiler he has back home, look like the Edison—Hudson Avenue Plant. Will probably succeed, too!

JENNER, HARRY S., Jr.

Harry

5 West Clinton Ave., Johnstown, N. Y.

Gloversville's contribution to Pratt—a friendly personality, a good dancer, a real sport, and a charming host. These qualities make him admired by everyone.

JENNINGS, ROBERT E.

Bob

607 "F" St., Brunswick, Ga.

Southern, high-seas sailor, turned engineer. When Bob isn't studying, he's worrying about his lessons. Quit worrying, Bob.

LAWATSCH, ROBERT J.

Bob

109 E. Chester St., Kingston, N. Y.

"Bob" has three big wonders—when he's going home, when it's time to eat, and when he'll get his work done.

LUCIDO, ANTHONY J.

Tony

416 Fifth St., Newark, N. J.

"Tony" loves the "Joisey" from which he hails. Was a Westinghouse design man but doesn't mind playing with our class design problems.

LUCY, SAM G.

Sam

1923 Erie St., El Paso, Texas

Class Treasurer, 1932; President A.S.M.E.

1933; Associate Editor Mech. Review, 1933.

"Sam" is the original "man from the South"—an old Army man with a lot of medals and a commission. The life of every party [in ten easy lessons].

LYNCH, GERALD T.

Jerry

80 Second Ave., Gloversville, N. Y.

A gentleman, gifted with the astounding ability of being able to get the best results with the least effort.

MACHOLZ, ALBERT B.

Al

13 Close St., Schenectady, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1932-33; Associate Editor Mech. Review, 1933.

"Al" likes his coast artillery and we expect he will be going around with a sample case full some day. Wonder if he goes out with a "Big Bertha?"

MARCUS, WILLIAM

Bill

Cuddebackville, Orange Co., N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932.

"Bill" comes from the home of Jersey mosquitoes and will some day, no doubt, give them an engineering value.

MAXFIELD, JOHN R.

John

High Street, Guilford, Maine

Manager Class Swimming, 1933.

A hard worker from Maine who made good. We understand he likes long hikes in the evenings. What's the attraction, John?

McMILLAN, ALVA

Mac

517 Summit Ave., Schenectady, N. Y.

"Mac" likes to put "work before play". School dances are termed work as they have been most of "Mac's" extra-curricula activity.

MERROW, WILMONT F.

Will

420 Union Ave., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Class Swimming, 1932-33.

Makes aviation pay in the form of original flying models. Will some day do as much for the big planes.

MIHLSTIN, LESTER N.

Les

333 Central Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Swimming, 1933.

One of the popular commuters of the second section. Always has a witty remark ready. Croons in his spare time.

MONTAGINO, CHARLES

Montie

673 E. 98th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Quiet, and though he always imagines he's behind in his work, he is always among the leaders. Atta boy, "Montie!"

MONTEROSE, ANTHONY S. Tony Davis St., Oakville, Conn.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Swimming, 1933; Class Baseball, 1932-33.

"Tony" wants to own a welding service some day. Claims it's hot stuff. The only man at school to receive two class letters in soccer.

MORRIS, JOHN A. John
1419 Jessup Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

John and his pal, Harry Olsen, ride the subways together. What one doesn't see, the other does.

MORRISON, EDWARD V., Jr. Ed
162 Hilton Ave., Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

Athletic Council Representative, 1932-33. "Ed's" an Army man, born and bred; and wants to zoom one of those fast Army pursuit ships some day.

MORSE, JAMES R. Jim
Essex, N. Y.

Manager Class Bowling, 1931. "Jim" has ideas about gas engine design and has started to prove he's on the right track. He has our best wishes.

NAPP, JULIUS L. Julius
119-18 107th Ave. Richmond Hill, N. Y.

Varsity Baseball, 1932. Julius wants to build airplanes and already has a fine start. Sikorski's best booster.

OFFENHEISER, CHARLES M. Charlie
257 Liberty Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

The big, blonde pianist from Jersey. Charlie loves to argue his point with the instructors—any instructor.

OLSEN, HARTVIG B. Harry
703 West 180th St., New York, N. Y.

One of the outstanding personalities and best read men in the class. Talks interestingly about anything, especially politics. Only good wishes to you, "Harry."

PATTHEY, ALFRED R. Al
41 N. Clinton Ave., Bay Shore, N. Y.

Prattonia Representative, 1932-33; Associate Editor Mech. Review, 1933.
"Al" always has a hot iron in the fire but doesn't let it worry him. His tireless efforts as our Prattonia Representative will always be remembered.

PERRIN, DANIEL H. Danny 263 Cooke St., Waterbury, Conn.

Captain Class Basketball, 1932-33; Captain Varsity Baseball, 1933.

One of the Mech boys who made good in the varsity sports. A steady plunger with a ready smile. "Danny" hates to be hurried.

PLUESS, ARNOLD L. Arnold
1036 E. 42nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

When you're stuck, look up "Arnold". If he can't help you, he'll at least be sympathetic. Always good-natured.

POTOPINSKI, MICHAEL A. Mike

Northern Blvd., Roslyn, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932-33.

When "Mike" started commuting to school, he found it didn't leave time enough at night. Moved to Brooklyn and found nights still weren't long enough.

PRATTONIA

POWERS, DAVID J. Dave

305 Smith St., Peekskill, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932-33; Assistant Varsity Basketball Manager, 1932; Athletic Association Representative, 1932-33.

A man of mystery. The only man who can ride the subways to Bay Ridge about six nights a week and still get lost. That's his story.

RASKIN, MORRIS Morris

Woodbourne, N. Y.

Another of those quiet, hard-working fellows of whom Pratt will be proud.

REATH, ROGER E. Roy

1343 Oneida St., Utica, N. Y.

Class President, 1932-33; Captain Class Soccer, 1932-33; Treasurer Glee Club, 1932-33; Class Bowling, 1932-33; Class Swimming, 1932; Class Baseball, 1932-33; Student Council, 1932-33; Business Manager Prattonia, 1933; Chairman Senior Prom Committee, 1933.

"Rog" makes time. Participates in every activity and is interested in every student. Has the knack of doing the right thing at the right time. He calls it organization.

REYNOLDS, JOHN C. J. C.

54 Lincoln Ave., Grantwood, N. J.

Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1932; Assistant Manager Class Baseball, 1932.

"J. C." is dark and good-looking. Likes a good time even better than the next fellow. We will remember him for his work in the Chemistry Lab.

REYNOLDS, SPENCER W. S. W.

531 St. Mark's Ave., Westfield, N. J.

"Spencer" commutes and that would try the best of men. He is very quiet, and very good-natured. Keeps Powers posted on "News from New Jersey".

REYNOLDS, VERNON F. Vernon

99 Hoosick St., Troy, N. Y.

Vernon has been a quiet, persevering student. We know he'll be successful.

ROUGHSEdge, ROBERT Bob

236 N. Central Ave., Ramsey, N. J.

Bob is a commuter and evidently does his home-work on the train, as he usually has it done. He manages to get along pretty well by himself.

RUSIE, WILLIAM F. Bill

31-24 106th St., Corona, L. I., N. Y.

Bill is an early arrival at the Men's Club and there picks up his topics of the day. Likes Math with his meals.

SALY, HENRY W. Henry

1249 East 39th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Henry" is especially interested in automobiles. We always wanted to hear "Henry" and Vernon Reynolds argue about the Auto Show.

SAMAN, ANDREW

Andy

King St., Bristol, Conn.

"Andy" has a Packard that has been taken apart and put together many times but it still runs. Andy also has a smile for everyone.

PRATTIONIA

SCHMIDT, CHARLES NORMAN

Red

99 N. Corona Ave., Valley Stream, L. I.,
N. Y.

"Red" is a fighter, and well-liked by everyone. We would like to meet the girl on the Island who manicures his nails,—his "little woman".

SCHUSTER, JOSEPH N.

Joe

56 East 3rd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33.

"Joe" can always be found—no matter what is going on or where—"Joe" will be in attendance.

STACHE, WILLIAM G.

Bill

466 South St., Holyoke, Mass.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Basketball, 1932.

"Bill" doesn't have much to say but if you need a hand, "Bill" will help.

STAKLINSKI, STANLEY J.

Stan

317 Adams St., Buckland, Conn.

Class Basketball, 1931.

"Stan" is always busy, when he isn't working, he's studying. No, studying isn't work to "Stan".

PRACTIONIA

STEER, DONALD E.

Don

179 Meriden Rd., Waterbury, Conn.

Captain Class Basketball, 1931.

Always has his work up to snuff and still has time to enjoy the sun in the park.

STRANACK, ROBERT J.

Bob

9021 175th St., Jamaica, L. I., N. Y.

"Bob", and his pal "Red" Schmidt, always eat their lunch together in an auto by the East building gate. They claim the scenery thereabouts is lovely.

SUNDQUIST, FREDERICK R.

1165½ Vancouver Ave., Portland, Ore.

Class Vice-President, 1932.

The boys all like "Fred's" easy way. He's like a taxi-driver—always going somewhere.

THOMSON, WALLACE

Wally

496 Seventh St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Wally" is from Brooklyn and spends his summers and money at Huntington, where he has a big interest. We all wish you success.

TRUDEAU, ERNEST

Ernie

180 Cabot St., Holyoke, Mass.

Assistant Manager Class Baseball, 1931.

"Ernie's" a small boy from Holyoke but what a big man with the femmes. Somehow they seem to "Tripp" him up.

VALENTINE, HERBERT W.

Herb

Oscawana-on-Hudson, N. Y.

"Herb" must be more than a "Valentine" in name only. You can't be as good-looking as "Herb" and be just an engineer.

WIKSTROM, CARL T.

Wickie

Carlton Blvd., Annadale, S. I., N. Y.

"Wickie" will certainly become an engineer. He put his shoulder to the wheel from the start and has ploughed through—studying, dancing, and enjoying the association with his fellow students.

WILLIAMS, EUGENE D.

Gene

70 Cooper-Bessemer Corp., Mt. Vernon, Ohio

The man from the West who has traveled much. We can understand why such a man is married—who would want to resist him?

WILLIAMS, HAROLD L.

Harold

33 N. Washington Ave., Hartsdale, N.Y.

The "Big Boy" from up the Hudson. If "Harold" engineers to the heights he has attained physically, he'll be a wow!

WINCZE, JOSEPH W.

Joey

139 Wilson St., Hartford, Conn.

Class Boxing, 1932-33; Class Boxing Coach, 1933; Class Soccer, 1933; Class Baseball, 1932-33.

Just keep knocking your jobs down and success is bound to be yours. "Joey" has put great effort into developing the many art of boxing at Pratt.

PRAETONIA

WOOD, RICHARD L.

Dick

32 Highland Terrace, Gloversville, N. Y.

Class Boxing, 1932-33.

"Dick" has a smile for everyone. His happy-go-lucky way has made him a host of friends.

THE Chemical Engineering Class of 1934 started their work in the middle of last September.

The first work of importance was the result of their first class meeting at which they elected their class officers. Without a doubt the men elected for the different offices are men to be proud of, and men that have done their work well. There has been no work too difficult for them to undertake and they have done everything with a willing spirit.

In spite of the size of the class, they have participated in every activity that has presented itself. In basketball as well as in soccer they gave all of their opponents a stern fight. There are several fine bowlers in the class and they have been showing excellent scores throughout the year.

One of the most outstanding events of the year was the founding of a class newspaper. The class of '34, realizing the benefits of such a publication, have been successful in producing the "Chemical Blast", a paper containing news and educational articles.

The class has been active in social as well as athletic activities throughout the year. There have been representatives in all of the social organizations. The Glee Club has had quite a few of our members to join in their gatherings. The Wholer Society has been one of the groups that we all have been privileged to enjoy. There have always been fine turn-outs at all of the meetings and everyone has enjoyed them a great deal.

It may be said without hesitation that every member of the Electrical Engineering Class of '34 is well pleased with himself for having chosen Pratt Institute as his Alma Mater. The fact that the Science and Technology School has an outstanding reputation for graduating thoroughly trained and well equipped engineers is only one of the many reasons for this feeling. Other reasons arise from its encouragement and opportunity for the development of the true fellowship through social functions and athletic competition.

There are many ways in which we, as students of this institution, can express our gratitude for the opportunity afforded us. The outstanding way to prove our thanks is by attitude and cooperative spirit. In so doing we will uphold the high standards set by those who have proceeded us. To uphold these standards and ideals, is the object in the mind of every student.

The class is represented in the "Electrical Echo" both on the editorial staff and in the columns. The varsity basketball squad claims two of our members. In inter-class soccer, basketball, swimming, billiards and bowling the class has been among the most active in the school.

THE golden bugle gave its thundering blast on that eventful September morn. 'Twas upon the 13th that they choose to summon us to labor.

The frosh were seen to arrive earlier than their elders in groups around the entrance gate leading to the campus of wisdom in which it is an old tradition for the incoming students to assemble in a spacious room known to them, at the time, as the Engineering Temple. That is, before the welcoming address was given. Now, the same ambitious souls trudge along from class to class months afterwards completely disregarding this Hall of Labor. Times have changed—.

We came one hundred strong to be again recognized as the first year Mechanicals, called upon to ponder on difficult subjects, such as physics, mathematics—we are now accustomed to the routine and are now cogs in the machine of hope.

What could we one hundred strong do without the patient and diligent toiling of our instructors, for without their cooperation and interest, backed by years of experience in knowledge, we could go no farther in the field of Engineering. We thank these ever loyal supporters, the Trustees, and the first staunch guide, the Founder. May we ever pull together to keep up perpetual progress in our chosen vocation.

SCHOOL OF FINE AND APPLIED ARTS

NEVER has there been as keen an appreciation for specialized art training of the Pratt Institute quality and intensity as is evidenced this school year. The serious attitude of the entire student body reflects wholesomely the economic seriousness of the times. While it has been possible this year to accommodate over 700 students, a new enrollment maximum, nevertheless a great many additional worthy candidates had to be refused.

When the anticipated up-swing to prosperity reaches a marked acceleration we will find hand in hand with its progress Art functioning more than ever before. This will be manifested in its many phases including industrial production, marketing, advertising and selling, construction both large and small, and increased educational opportunities. The already practical courses of the Art School have been carefully revised in anticipation of this new expanded call for art trained people. Specialists in the newer fields of art opportunities such as industrial designing, packaging and sales devising have joined our staff within the last two years.

The quickening of the functional value, the true test of all Pratt Institute courses, is already visible in the placement of recent graduates in these latest art endeavors. A Placement Bureau has been organized that the professional art opportunity and the graduate may meet.

The Art School faces the immediate future with courage and confidence in the belief that Art will more definitely than ever be a vital part of this industrial and commercial epoch and thus interpret and express it more truly.

WHILE the whole world around us has talked about and has struggled through a period of great depression, our class has calmly and with confidence in a great future worked its way through three years in Pratt preparing for its great, we hope, contribution to modern advertising art. As far as work has been concerned we have not felt the depression in the least for our instructors have always managed with seemingly little difficulty to give us enough packaging problems, layouts, booklets, posters, etc., to keep any advertising agency going strong.

We have also learned how true is the old saying, "Tempus Fugit", for who would ever believe that three years could have passed so quickly and that now we have reached the goal which in September 1930 seemed so far away. Whether or not our dreams of the future come true is entirely up to us alone and while things don't look quite as simple and rosy as they did a few years ago still we have been successful in school so we should be able to duplicate our success in the great cold business world. Now as we venture forth another old saying may help us and that is "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again", and we will.

CLASS OFFICERS

PRESIDENT

JEAN B. BARTLETT

DOROTHEA E. MARTIN

RENNOLD A. LUEDER

SECRETARY

ALBERT JAMES B.

Westport Harbor Mass.

Prattonia Representative 1933.

Our air-minded classmate whose faith in airplanes is still unshattered after three years with us.

Jimmie

ARINK, E. CARLTON

Carl

53 Sammis Ave., Babylon L. I., N. Y.

Prattonia Representative, 1932.

A Thomas Lion in the making, who finds boats more interesting than painting, or making labels.

AUSTIN ERWIN H.

Er

466 Kenwood Ave., Delmar, N. Y.

Prattonia Representative, 1931; Artsmen Soccer, 1932-33; Artsmen Bowling, 1933.

A big farm boy who has made good in New York, but we are getting suspicious about his other interests.

BANKOSKI, LEOCADIA

Leo

22 Lake Shore Drive West, Dunkirk, N. Y.

The girl of mystery that we are afraid has changed since she has been in Pratt. However, we still don't know any more about her.

BARTLETT, JEAN B.

Jean

25 Chester St., Mount Vernon N. Y.

Class President 1931; Class Vice President, 1932-33; Social Chairman Palettes, 1932-33; Associate Editor Prattonia, 1933.

Jean is the auburn-crowned member of our class tall and stately, who will be a success wherever she appears with her sunny smile.

BEASLEY, ALFRED P.

AI

47 Willow St., Glen Ridge, N. J.

Student Council, 1931; Artsmen Representative, 1931.

One of the four well known Jersey playboys who with his clever wit and delightful personality is able to keep the class in a happy frame of mind.

BECKER, ELSIE GARDNER

Elsie

2724 Erickson St., Elmhurst, L. I., N. Y.

Happy-go-lucky, her main interest in life was art but she has now changed it to mechanical engineering and domestic science would come in handy.

BODE, ROBERT W.

564 South Broadway, Yonkers, N. Y.

Varsity Baseball, 1931-32-33; Varsity Basketball, 1932-33; Artsmen Soccer, 1931-32; Art Editor Prattonia, 1933; Secretary Artsmen, 1933; Athletic Chairman Artsmen, 1932; Vice-President Athletic Council, 1932-33.

A man whose athletic prowess is not overestimated.

BOEHLE, ALBERT J.

AI

14-11 120th St., College Point, L. I., N.Y.

Artsmen Baseball, 1931.

One of the quieter members of the class, if any, who has the expensive hobby of racing outboard-motor boats.

CALYER, JOSEPH G. H.

Joe

Cornwall-on-Hudson, N. Y.

A new recruit from the Teacher Training class whose yen for teaching suddenly faded and he switched to Advertising.

CARDAMON, CATHERINE D. Kitty

129 Pike St., Carbondale, Pa.

Women's Club Representative 1932-33.
A little diamond from the coal region of Pennsylvania. She is our example of a quiet and unassuming personality.

PRAIRIE

CRAWFORD, RALPH W. Ralph

1311 Abbott Rd., Buffalo, N. Y.

Camera Club, 1931.
Forever starting cross country hikes with his room-mate, but with the stories he's brought back he'll be safer at home.

DE MATTIA, ELEANORE A. Angel

10 Maple Pl., Clifton, N. J.

The life of our class, a real sparkle of the Latin countries. Our only thought of her is that she should stay away from places over two feet high.

DUFF, RODERICK Duff

83 Carlton Ave., Port Washington, L. I.,
N. Y.

Our attractive collar-ad man who uses physical energy to convince anyone of his artistic ability.

EADEH, ALFRED R. Al

563 48th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Al" seems to have an eye for all but he shows a preference for blondes and you can't blame him for that.

HALL, GEORGE F.

George

560 Marlborough Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Now when I was in prep school boys——" and "women are the ruination of artists" are typical expressions of this dominating personality, maybe that is why he's so successful.

HARBERT, RUTH A.

Ruthie

808 E. State St., Olean, N. Y.

We are glad of your very friendly interest in us "Ruthie", though we fear that you also have designs on a certain mechanical engineer.

HOFMANN, FREDERIC E.

Fred

146 South Fourth Ave., Ilion, N. Y.

Camera Club, 1931; Marionette Club, 1932-33; President Marionette Club, 1933.

An excellent technician who practices lettering on a pinhead and who is well known for his traveling supply bag which contains everything from soup to nuts.

HOIE, CLAUS

Claus

1247 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Artsmen Soccer, 1931-32-33; Captain Artsmen Soccer, 1933; Athletic Council, 1932; Manager Artsmen Basketball, 1932; Vice President Artsmen, 1932; President Artsmen, 1933; Associate Art Editor Prattonia, 1933.

Everything is unusual about him, his designs, his color schemes, and his personality, which no doubt tends to make him a true artist.

HORTON, G. PHYLLIS

Phyllis

1836 East 12th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Volley Ball, 1931-32; Basketball, 1932-33; Paletteer Representative, 1932; Marionette Club, 1932-33.

The aristocracy of Europe brought to Pratt Institute in the person of an original type designer.

KRAIDICH, WILLIAM

Bill

210-A N. Henry St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Marionette Club 1931-32-33; Artsmen Representative, 1931.

Art is just another of his line of studies. It didn't take him long to find out the difference between advertising and illustration.

LEWTHWAITE, EDNA L.

Eddie

4214 Avenue I, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hockey, 1931-32; Basketball, 1931; Baseball, 1932; Glee Club, 1932; Paletteer Representative, 1933; Athletic Council, 1933.

We wonder why this cheery member of our class is taking advertising. From all she tells us it should have been domestic science.

LUEDER, RENNOLD A.

Pop

Jacksonville, N. Y.

Class Secretary, 1933; Artsmen Basketball, 1931-32-33; Class Swimming, 1931; Class Vice President, 1931; Dramatic Club, 1932.

"The country is the only place" says "Pop", but he gets along very successfully in the big city.

MARTIN, DOROTHEA EUNICE

Dot

84 Fairview Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

Class Secretary-Treasurer, 1931-32; Class Treasurer, 1933; Secretary of Prattonia, 1933.

We could fill a book about the goodness of our "Dot" but to make a long story short we will say that she is a combination of personality and beauty which is hard to beat.

MENIG, ARTHUR F.

Art

539 Jefferson Ave., Elizabeth, N. J.

The only Jersey playboy who really works. If there were no Saturdays, Sundays, or holidays poor "Art" would still be in school.

MINOR, REGINALD M.

Reg

563 66th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class President, 1932; Social Chairman
Artsmen, 1933.The big photography and expert air brush man in more ways than one. "Page Mr.
Gable please".

MORSE, WILLIAM T.

Bill

706 Second St., Marietta, Ohio.

Another man gone wrong. But we all like him and we are sure he'll be a success for her.

NEWMAN, CHARLES A.

Chuck

129 Winter St., Norwood, Mass.

Class President, 1933; Student Council,
1933; Class Vice-President, 1931; Artsmen
Basketball, 1931-32-33.Well known for his Boston accent and his criticisms on our good old New York speech.
Mighty popular, you have the best wishes of all "Chuck".

PARSKE, THEODORE A.

Ted

120 Keil St., N. Tonawanda, N. Y.

Glee Club, 1931-32.

His hobby is knowing everything, everybody and why.

PLATT, WALTER R. JR.

Walt

31 Appleton Rd., Glen Ridge, N. J.

The second of the Jersey playboys who turned out to be a Romeo with his Barrymore profile.

PRELLE, F. WALLACE

Wally

5 Berkeley Terrace, Rockville, Conn.

Artsmen Representative, 1932-33; Manager Artsmen Baseball, 1932.

A self made man of diversified capabilities. He has one certain interest in Rockville apparently.

PRATTONIA

REILLY, JOHN J.

Jack

120 East 42nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Varsity Baseball, 1931-32; Artsmen Soccer, 1931-32-33; Class Swimming, 1932; Manager Class Swimming, 1933; Prattonia Representative, 1931.

"Jack" finally discovered that advertising is the only thing, but it took him two years to do it.

REMBOLD, EDWIN J.

Ed

229 Orange St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Class Secretary, 1931.

If anyone does get the breaks it will be "Eddie" ten to one, for he's our super-plus-ultra professional.

ROSE, GEORGE W.

George

124 Harmony St., Bridgeport, Conn.

A sure fire success who has a speech already to present to the Artsmen in 1954.

SCHERER, GERTRUDE L.

Trudy

24-75 38th St., Astoria, L. I., N. Y.

Glee Club, 1931-32-33.

She greets everyone with a smile and charms them with her sweet voice which she utilizes in the position of second alto in the glee club.

WAHL, FRANCES S., Jr.

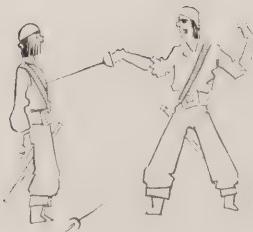

Fran

345 Tremont St., N. Tonawanda, N. Y.

Marionette Club, 1931-32.

He is the fourth and last of the Jersey playboys and he just sings. He has great faith in his work and himself and that's something nowadays.

REMEMBER that first day of school? That morning in September when we started on a trip that was to last for three years?

Without so much as a start, the scholastic train flashed us on, year after year, until, arriving now at its destination, it discharges its passengers at the gate of the future.

In our baggage, we possess such enduring objects as details of double hung windows, gusset plates, cast-iron shoes, I-beams, to say nothing of cabriole legs and the knack of telling stories by the means of projects.

Our trip has been a very profitable one as well as enjoyable, and we are indebted to our instructors for making it as it was. Mr. Pope certainly has been an able engineer and we know that all future classes will appreciate their stay at Pratt, as we did, under his leadership.

Our years have been saturated with triumphs in social, athletic, and education accomplishments. We may now look back on records of which we are proud and hold them aloft, so that others may strive to attain the goal that we so laboriously reached.

Now we must leave, and in leaving, carry memories that will never dim with time. Never again will the Class of '33 gather about the portals of Pratt as students. We have "checked in" for the last time.

CLASS OFFICERS

DUDLEY MORRELL

PRESIDENT

CHARLES J. SPIESS

AMARI, ALBERT PETER

346 Clinton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Romeo keeper of the eastern gate. As this picture shows Al has become the owner of a striking moustache which his fair rival his eyebrows in proportion.

PRATTONIA

AULICINO, EDWARD R.

Eddie

5908—17th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Eddie's" one great art of conversation is silence. An able man shows his spirit by gentle words backed by resolute action. This is one of "Eddie's" many fine attributes.

AZZAM, VICTOR S.

Vic

Mt. Carmel, Haifa, Palestine.

Class Soccer, 1931-32-33; Class Swimming, 1931-33; Captain Class Soccer, 1932-33; Varsity Cheer Leader, 1932; Glee Club, 1931-32.

Essentially a good sport. Energetic, both in class and athletics. "Vic" is notorious for his social standings with the fairer sex.

BASSETT, HARRY W.

Harry

54 Maple Ave., Derby, Conn.

J. V. Basketball, 1931; Varsity Basketball, 1932-33; Captain Varsity Basketball, 1933; Class Baseball, 1931-32-33; Class Treasurer, 1932; Athletic Council, 1932; Chairman Athletic Council, 1933.

"Harry" goes for his activities in a very big way at the same time keeping his scholastic standings at the same level. A worthy athlete and all, but he admits no parallel.

BASTRESS, R. C.

Cal

8828—146th St., Jamaica, L. I., N. Y.

Camera Club, 1933.

"Cal" is a newcomer to our class but has won himself over from the start. We can picture "Cal" slinging a cautious wash, while standing on the aft deck and teaching the art of photography to a school of honoecked blow fish.

PRATTONIA

BOEDEFELD, WILLIAM M.

Bill

187 Steuben St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Bill's" uncanny skill in his use of the brush on his design problems has put him up as a goal to aspire. No one has yet seen him wasting his time.

BORGESON, ELMER

Borgie

57 Livingston Rd., East Hartford, Conn.

Class Baseball, 1931-32-33; Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1933.

We have in "Borgie" one of the most earnestly working fellows in the class. Eliminating the fact that "Borgie" has often tried to sing, he is one of the best liked.

DESTREMPIS, FRANK C.

Frankie

124 76th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Manager Class Swimming, 1932.

"Frankie" is endowed with more than his share of ability both in architecture and in picking an argument with persons who differ in opinion on the matter of politics, athletics, surgery, or any subject you may like.

DIMEN, NORMAN

Norm

1220 Spofford Ave., New York, N. Y.

We all admit "Norm" as an equal in all branches of our art, but when it comes to first class puns, "Norm" actually covers us up like a tent.

DOEGE, HERMAN L.

Herm

55 Union Ave., New Rochelle, N. Y.

Through his own efforts and accomplishments, "Herm" has become one of the leading designers in the class. We wonder how he can manage to do his work, discard it, and start again while we still wonder where to start ours.

FITZSIMMONS, JAMES J.

Fitzie

120 Westford Circle, Springfield, Mass.

Boxing Club, 1931; Manager Class Basketball, 1932; Prattonia Representative, 1932-33.

This is the second time we ask you to see "Fitzie" if these personals are a bit personal but we warn you, he'll be waiting with an axe. He won't use it, we know, as he is good-natured from top to bottom.

PRATTONIA

GILROY, RUSSEL J.

Russ

14-23 Burton St., Whitestone, L. I., N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1932-33; Boxing Club, 1932; Class Swimming, 1932-33; Camera Club, 1933.

"Russ" still thinks that College Point is a gigolo's paradise. Why? Did ou ever hear of the Island of Bali? Well, there are three women to every one man.

GROSS, MILTON

Milt

213 Hart St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dramatic Club, 1932-33; Camera Club, 1933; Glee Club, 1932-33.

Gone are the tracing paper tactics. "Milt" now turns out work which is on a par with the highest. His success with interior work is probably due to the influence of Macy's Magic Rooms.

HAAB, LESTER L. D.

Chris

161 Garfield Ave., Mineola, L. I., N. Y.

Boxing Club, 1932; Vice-President Camera Club, 1933.

Second to none in drafting speed and accuracy, coupled with the title or originator and master of the "smooch" technique, stands "Chris". Speaking of stands, don't fail to see the new Mineola Public Band Stand.

HOSKINS, WILLIAM

Bill

65 Fox St., Gloversville, N. Y.

President Camera Club, 1933; Class Treasurer, 1933.

Were "Bill" not such a good "egg", we'd soon have the jitters with his eternal cry for dues. Bill gives all the Profs an even break by having all his work equally attended to with apparent ease.

IVERSON, ERLING E.

Ivy

440 Clinton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1931-32-33.

We wonder if it is an old Norwegian custom to nibble at one's lunch while in the presence of a group of famished class mates at just ten minutes to twelve, and at the same time "bat out" an enviable design problem with his left hand.

KING, HENRY

Henry

858 Kinsella St., Bronx, N. Y.

His work finished—to the amazement of his mates, Henry roams from desk to desk giving that most complimentary criticism, which can always be expected. "Gee that's lousy". "Why don't you give up?"

KREY, HERBERT J.

Herb

1565 Springfield Ave., Maplewood,
N. J.

Class Baseball, 1931-32-33; Class Soccer,
1931-32-33; Class Basketball, 1931.

"Herb's sketching qualities have been known for some time, but few will believe that he can sketch and photograph objects from a moving car with splendid results.

McCORMICK, CALVIN

Mac

1060 Falls Blvd., North Tonawanda, N. Y.

Accompanist Glee Club, 1931-32-33; President Glee Club, 1933; Assistant Instructor Department of Architecture, 1933.

"Mac" still visits us in moments snatched from his musical, stenographic, and tutelary activities. He also lacks the drooping lids of Morpheus, due most likely to his "evenings at home".

McGUIGAN, THURSTON A.

Mac

479 Winthrop Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Glee Club, 1931-32-33; Camera Club,
1931-33; Secretary-Treasurer Camera Club,
1933; Class Basketball, 1931-32-33.

Yale certainly lost a good man when "Mac" chose Pratt. "Mac" has a reference library that would make that of Yale blush. By the way "Mac", how is "Riosit" selling?

MORRELL, DUDLEY

Dud

76 Ocean Ave., Amityville, L. I. N. Y.

Class Baseball, 1932-33; Camera Club, 1933; Student Council, 1933; President Architectural Design, 1933.

In "Dud" we find many admirable qualities. He makes a first rate class president because of his accomplishments in the architectural and social worlds.

PRATTONIA

O'CONNOR, JOHN J.

Johnnie

156 East Chester St., Kingston, N. Y.

Class Treasurer, 1931; Camera Club, 1933. Courteous in all ways. Exact and to the point. Well mannered and well liked. "Johnnie's" ever ready smile shows us why his popularity is so well deserved.

QUINN, HAROLD M.

Bing

State Road No. 22, Golden's Bridge,
N. Y.

Assistant Manager Varsity Basketball, 1931; Class Basketball, 1931-32-33; Architect's Publicity Committee, 1933; Camera Club, 1933.

A man energetic in words and actions. He has obtained his nickname through his easy mannered way of rendering a wash whilst in the throes of a song.

SCHADE, CHARLES A.

Charlie

159 Ontario St., Albany, N. Y.

Architect's Secretary, 1932; Class Basketball, 1931-32-33; Class Baseball, 1931-32-33; Athletic Editor Prattonia, 1932-33; Chairman Social Committee Architects, 1933.

"Charlie" has divided his life into a serious nature, and one that is crowded with fun and frolic. If you think that he has been idle during his three years at Pratt, just "spot" those activities.

SPIESS, CHARLES J.

Charlie

1010 Second Ave., New York, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1931-32-33; Class Baseball, 1932-33; Class Soccer, 1932-33; Chairman Educational Committee Architects, 1933.

A true New Yorker and a good renderer.

STRUOPPMANN, HERBERT C.

Herb

8819—89th St., Woodhaven, L. I., N. Y.

Class Soccer, 1931-32-33; Architect's Librarian, 1933.

"Herb's" fine qualities as an architect, as well as a librarian, have pushed him to the fore. At the end of the year, Herb should have a fine collection of professional periodicals.

TITUS, WILLIAM E.

King

37 Hillside Ave., Huntington, N. Y.

President Architects, 1933; Camera Club, 1933.

"Bill" is one of the best liked fellows in our class. His frankness is outstanding in all of his oratorical arguments. By the way, Bill, do you go for Canada Dry in a big way?

VALAND, LIEF

Lee

63 Court House Pl., Jersey City, N. J.

Class Baseball, 1931-32-33; Class Basketball, 1932-33; Chairman Architect's Publicity Committee, 1933; Camera Club, 1933.

"Lee" is a keen follower and partisan of all branches of sport and has managed to pick winners with the same judgment that he gives to his architectural profession. It seems a shame, though, that he can't carry on his courtships unmolested.

SOMETIMES, WILLIAM, I

WE, the construction class, have reached the goal of another scholastic year, a very successful year too—athletically, socially as well as scholastically.

Together with the other architectural classes we have enjoyed many social functions. Our banquets were indeed outstanding, partly due to our professional guest speakers and partly due to class cooperation. Our dances, were as usual, more than successful with their superb decorating and atmosphere.

Perhaps one of the outstanding scholastic events of this year is the fact that we produced our first workable drawings—considering cost, design and, of course, the construction. Because of our interest in the problem it proved very successful.

Our Friday afternoon inspection trips were "looked forward to" by the whole class. Our trip to the Chrysler Building was probably the most interesting since we were allowed to ramble about the whole building and even climb into the "needle" of the tower—a rare privilege. Other interesting trips were those to the New York Port of Authority Building, a trip to Perth Amboy, N. J., to a terra cotta plant where we saw the huge pediment for the new Philadelphia Museum, a trip to Mitchell Flying Field, and many other too numerous to mention here in this abbreviated history.

The consultant engineer of the class who does things in a great big hurry. "Marsh" is also a politician.

PRATTONIA

AHREND, EDWARD

Ed

139-41 87th Ave., Jamaica, N. Y.

A quiet retiring fellow: a methodical draftsman who does an untold amount of work. We know he will go far.

BADOLATO, JAMES P.

Jim

211 Suydam St., New Brunswick, N. J.

Boxing, 1931-32.

"Jim", our burglar boy, can open any lock with a toot of his horn. A great brick-layer and good sport. Here's luck, "Jim".

BAILY, ARTHUR S.

Art

15 Willard St., Weathersfield, Conn.

A very serious fellow is "Art". He is bound to reach his mark.

BEATTIE, ROBERT F.

Bob

100-37 197th St., Hollis, N. Y.

Swimming, 1932-33.

If you should hear a turbulent, catchy laugh, 'tis a sign of "Bob's" presence. A real talker—have you heard?

PRATTONIA

BINGSBANG, LEONG

Leong

32 Pell St., New York N. Y.

Our Oriental friend "Leong" is an exceptionally clever chap. With his drafting and calculating he should reach the ultimate goal of success.

BLANCHARD, CARL R.

Carl

27 Pond St., New Haven Conn.

Who is that boy that burns the midnight oil? Well, you've guessed it nobody else but "Carl", the tailor.

BOYLE, EDWARD J.

Ed

730 Howe Ave., Shelton, Conn.

Whenever there is a big commotion and "Ed" isn't at the bottom of it, there is something wrong with him. "Ed" ought to be a politician, he's a fighter.

BYGLIN, HARRY A.

Big

Peekskill, N. Y.

If you see a brown streak going up De Kalb Avenue that is "Big" in a hurry to make football practice up in the country.

CURRY, CHARLES L.

Hammer

Yorktown Heights, N. Y.

"Hammer" is the silent member of the firm of "Byglin and Curry" who is out for a speed record from Brooklyn to Yorktown.

EBBLING, LEWIS A.

Duke

Osterville, Mass.

The boy with the temperamental Ford! A gentleman if there ever was one, who knows a lot about glass.

PRATTONIA

FOSTER, ALFRED G.

Al

11 Burtis St., Lynbrook, L. I., N. Y.

Cheerleader, 1932-33; Class Swimming, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1932-33.

The wonder man of the class. You wonder what he'll do next. When something goes wrong, just see "Al", he'll cheer you up.

GARRITY, JOSEPH A., JR.

Joe

414 Cleveland Ave., Harrison, N. J.

Prattonia Representative, 1933.

The "Mark Hellinger" of our class this year. If you aren't satisfied with this copy, see "Joe", he wrote most of it.

GEISER, CHARLES A.

Charlie

9053 55th Ave., Elmhurst, L. I., N. Y.

Our representative on the varsity basketball team and some dancer although he is true to a new girl every day.

GIDDINGS, MARSH B., JR.

Gid

73 South St., Great Barrington, Mass.

Class Swimming, 1932-33.

A man from the wide open spaces. The only man who can get up at 8:40 and get to school on time.

GILES, ELLSWORTH E. Ellsworth

521 East 7th St., Plainfield, N. J.

The whistling Senator from New Jersey.
An ardent dry, quite an architect and a mean basketball player.

HALSEY, A. PRESCOTT Pres

Bridgehampton, L. I., N. Y.

Once upon a time there was a little boy who thought that Parsons and Pratt should be incorporated. Cheer up, kid, it isn't a very long trip.

HAYWARD, FRANK B. Slim

117 Clifton Ave., Brockton, Mass.

Swimming, 1932-33; Class Dance Committee, 1933.

Towering far above his neighbors ■ gentlemen from Brockton arrives! With all his joking he does a prodigious amount of work.

HOEK, CORNELIUS Connie

Cherry Ave., West Sayville, L. I., N. Y.

Our own maestro and song writer and friend of every one. If you want to know anything about an orchestra see "Connie", he knows.

IMMEN, THOMAS L. Tom

148-42 89th Ave., Jamaica L. I., N. Y.

Soccer, 1932; Class President, 1933.

Our worthy president ready to help anyone in need and a likeable fellow. We understand he has plans for a cabin in the cotton.

KERR, ROGER B.

Roger

East Shore Rd., Jamestown, R. I.

Class President, 1932; Soccer, 1931-32.

Rex

38 Prospect Park S.W., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Soccer, 1932; Basketball, 1932; Swimming, 1932; Baseball, 1932-33.

When speed is needed in drafting "Rex" has it to give. A worthy fellow to call a friend.

LEIBERMAN, LOUIS

Lou

1726 59th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

An exact draftsman is "Lou". Try as we may to change him, he insists on everything being just so. A good man to have around.

LIMMER, HAROLD L.

Harry

Box 44, Milldale, Conn.

Class Swimming, 1933; Photographic Sales Editor Pratttonia, 1933; Glee Club, 1933.

Have you seen "Harry" today? No, well did you page the Paramount? We can't figure it out, but he always has his work in on time.

LOUIS, FOO F.

Foc

28 Mott St., New York, N. Y.

"Foo" is a very industrious chap. He insists on studying throughout the summer as well as at Pratt. He will go far.

PRATTONIA

MANN, CHARLES I.

Chuck

24 East Main St., Mohawk, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932; Class Baseball, 1932.

The milk truck driver from Mohawk who is a very popular fellow. Just a great big fun-loving "Mann".

MAUCH, PAUL G.

Paul

64-89 82nd Pl., West Forest Hills, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1932-33; Class Bowling, 1932; Class Swimming, 1932-33; Class Treasurer, 1932-33.

Our faithful treasurer always bouncing into the middle of a construction problem for dues. One of the basketball players with that architectural spirit.

MCKAY, MILFRED S.

Mac

54 Madison St., New Britain, Conn.

Class Bowling, 1932-33.

A soft-spoken friend ready to help when called on. A good representative of the architecture class, but we want to know who "Jackie" is.

MOON, LAURENCE R.

Larry

Knickerbocker Rd., Englewood, N. J.

Class Soccer, 1932.

"Larry" came to us from the far-off town of Englewood. We are going to give "Larry" a badge to detect those new tunes.

PROMECENE, WILLIAM

Bill

272 85th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Bowling, 1932-33.

"Bill" is the proud owner of a Don Juan mustache. The silent member of the firm of "Virgona, McKay, and Promecene". A good sport in anything.

RENDÖ, WILLIAM

Bill

30 Commerce St., Trenton, N. J.

Soccer, 1932-33; Baseball, 1932; Manager Class Basketball, 1933.

A Trenton he-man belonging to the firm of "Rendo and Mann". One of our famous soccer representatives and the people's choice.

PRATT ONIA

ROBERTSON, JAMES, JR.

Jim

Locust Valley, L. I., N. Y.

Soccer, 1932; Swimming, 1932.

"Jim" is the easiest man to get along with in the world. A great soccer player but he owes it to his nationality.

SCRIMENTI, ADOLPH R.

Adolph

499 Kosciusko St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Bowling, 1932; Manager Class Soccer, 1932.

The only architect with a real class spirit. A steady worker, an easy-going lad but don't get him steamed.

STANGLE, DOROTHEA A.

Dot

21 Argyle Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Glee Club, 1932.

A quiet demure little lady. She sure knows her architecture and one of the department's "Three Graces".

STILES EVELYN E.

Ev

Broad Brook, Conn.

Glee Club, 1932-33.

Rather hilarious at times and a good sport. Where she obtains all the questions from, we don't know but she sure finds some "stickers".

VIRGONA, JAMES V.

Jim

420 24th St., Guttenberg, N. J.

One of the little "three". The cigar man from West New York. Quite an architectural renderer and an admirable fellow.

VOORHEES, DONALD F.

Don

R. D. 2, Bound Brook, N. J.

"Don" is the quiet member of the firm of "Wester and Voorhees," contractors, a likeable fellow and hard worker.

WAISMAN, TAINA T.

Taina

775 49th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Here is a good sport. "Taina" is one of the few willing workers in our class. She makes the old pencil fairly "smoke" at times.

WESTER, CLIFFORD C.

Cliff

320 Amboy Ave., Metuchen, N. J.

Class Baseball, 1932-33.

Here is the man you have been waiting for. That big he-man and a blond at that. The answer to any maiden's prayer.

WING, MARTIN S.

Marty

857 East 18th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Prattonia Representative, 1931.

"Marty" is Jimmie Walker's only rival but he can't pick new presidents. They say that the beard didn't come up to scratch.

ZIRINSKY, JEROME

Jerry

513 Crown St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Secretary, 1932-33.

In high school they used to say "still water runs deep". It's a good quotation. What we can't figure out is, how he takes time out from figuring how much work he has to do to get his work done, but he does.

SHOULD I say "Now at the end of three years in Pratt, we are budding fashion illustrators"? Absolutely not, we're not budding, we're already blossomed. You may think that a bit egotistical, but, don't worry we can always come down a peg or even two.

We all have great aims. Some to illustrate in "Vogue", some "Harpers", and still others to do children's fashions or illustrations for newspaper advertising. However, it's also been rumored that a few will illustrate how to bridge in the afternoon and cook "hubby's" dinner in twenty minutes—using the latest kitchen devices, of course. Still others may end up being teachers.

Our class is a very varied one. We hail from the South, the West, the North and even from Brooklyn, the Bronx and Staten Island. Ever hear of the latter three where the poor commuters keep in trim trying to get here on time?

You will notice a new trend in the Fashion Illustration class of 1933. On the whole, the class looks as if the inmates actually combed their hair once in a while and didn't sleep in their clothes. All of which are good signs—it merely shows we've grown up and are preparing for a real professional outlook.

We leave one wish behind us—that someday Pratt may have a new swimming pool—thoughtful of the fashion illustrators—a thought for the architects and trustees.

A SMALL class of designers, the third to graduate from Pratt Institute, asks for final recognition in these pages. Though small, it has its proper amount of luminaries.

Our girls, who largely compose the class, have carried away frequent honors in the inter-class athletics. Volley Ball and the technicalities of life-saving have been idioms in fifth floor discussions. The men, not thus athletic-minded, are convincing the populace in general of their originality and suavity in all things decorative, one holding the Walter Scott Perry Scholarship, a competitive achievement.

This last year has been marked with the formal organization of a new society, the Desdec, to provide the students of the department with professional attitudes and trade secrets such as are not learned in school. Its value to the department should increase as it becomes an older and stronger unit.

During three years, the class has come under the influence of a large number of outstanding artists. To them we must attribute a great part of any future point of attainment. May succeeding classes have these resources that have been ours, and may their enjoyment be equal.

The few pages that follow, our record in picture and verse—we ask that they be looked upon and criticized with forbearance.

This Connecticut riddle
Success will come to her soon
The whole class cheers
To see such a sport;
The men all jump at her tune.

THE February class of 1934, the first February class during the history of Pratt. Individuals have contributed brilliantly to the success of our class through their stellar performance in various school activities. The IIIX class throughout its time in the Institute has tried to leave behind it a record of which it would be justly proud. Many persons of this group will be long remembered for their earnest creativeness, useful work and praiseworthy contributions.

The class entered upon its chosen career at Pratt in the fall of 1932, bringing with it many scholarship and talented students who were placed in a class known as IIIX. It is our belief that no other class has striven harder to grasp every opportunity and proved its appreciation for the honor which was bestowed upon the class when it entered this great fountain of knowledge.

We have many of our professors to thank for the interest which they have taken in our class. We thank some from the basic knowledge which we try to show in our work. Some for that old punch which every drawing should possess. And last but not least our dear friend for our creative ability which we have all tried to develop after hours listening to many descriptive records played on a small phonograph shortly after our arrival to the Institute, by our enthusiastic teacher. So humble and unaware of our undertaking were we, but we tried to live up to the title given us as Pratt's chosen students.

ANTHONY, J. MURRAY

Jack

1220 Terry Ave., Niagara Falls, N. Y.

It's just plain "Jack". He's clever, witty, has a pleasant disposition and is quite a man with the ladies. Maybe it's the smile.

PRATTONIA

BACHEM, JACOB

Jake

6902 Cooer Ave., Glendale, N. Y.

Class President, 1932.

Ambition is his idol on whose wings his mind carried only to extremes; to be sublimely great, or to be nothing.

BEGONIS, EDWARD A.

Ey

1614 Avenue B, Schenectady, N. Y.

Marionette Club, 1932; Glee Club, 1932.

Fiddling, drawing and noon hour dates are his special hobbies. Not only sailors prefer blondes.

BJORKLUND, LORENCE

Larry

1122 De Soto St., St. Paul, Minn.

Our Swedish cow puncher from the golden west who hasn't forgotten those ten gallon hats. His toils are sure to be crowned with success.

BONORA, FRANK

Frank

2925 86th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Quiet and unassuming—with the keen fire of determination and a man for a friend.

PRATTONIA

BOSHKO, JOSEPHINE T. Jo-Jo

41 Charles St., South River, N. J.

Glee Club, 1932; Fencing Club, 1932-33; Athletic Council, 1932; Class Representative Women's Club, 1932-33.

Idleness is her greatest enemy. A clear dashing girl full of sport and mirth.

CORDING, ADELE Red

481 11th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Vice-President, 1932; Prattonia Representative, 1931; Assistant Art Director Marionette Club, 1933; Publicity Chairman Paleteers, 1932.

Look for a red-head sketching about the highways and byways in the future, and you are sure to find a real artist.

CUMMINGS, GEORGE L. George

457 Dunham Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Varsity Basketball, 1931-32-33; Class Soccer, 1932-33; Class Baseball, 1931-32-33; Class Swimming, 1932.

Our "Village Blacksmith" from Mount Vernon, who seems always to have his hammer with him. He is often heard when we least expect him. And, oh, that whistle!

DE LANEY, LESLIE E. Les

4590 Garfield Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Marionette Club, 1932-33; Prattonia Representative, 1933; Class Bowling, 1932.

His dashing manners and sincere smile wins you to his cause. A hard worker who is sure to make good.

FERKAN, RUSSELL Russ

Bay View Rd., Bay Village, Ohio

Takes each man's censure, but reserves his own judgment. Has anyone a spare girl friend that wants a nice little boy friend?

FOWLER, MARTIN

Marty

437 Arthur St., Schenectady, N. Y.

Class Swimming, 1931; Director Swimming, 1932-33; Marionette Club, 1931; Soccer, 1932; Artsmen Representative, 1932.

It has been said a fish could take a few lessons from "Marty" in the old tank. He's also an athlete of known ability and just as good an artist.

PRATTONIA

HARRIS, FRED

Fred

116 South Portage, Westfield, N. Y.

He always got us with his rapid fire of wit. He's our class master of ceremonies or "I have a new one today folks. Will you listen?"

HEIDENREICH, RUTH C.

Heide

96 East Winspear Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

Women's Club Representative, 1932-33.

Will she ever grow out of babyhood? Modesty which surpasses all measures. Good luck and best wishes, "Ruth".

JENSEN, ROLF

Rolf

635 71st St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Treasurer, 1932-33.

Wine, blondes, and Guy Lombardo. A sense of humor, and remote control over his designing and lettering. With this vast combination we expect big things, "Rolf".

LINGERT, ADELE

Del

Annadale, S. I., N. Y.

Paletteer Representative, 1932; Class Secretary, 1932-33.

Quiet, patient and refined. Elegant as simplicity and warm as ecstasy. She truly answers to a young man's prayer. Who?

PRATTONIA

LOCKE, MARY

Melrel

910 Prospect Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Vice-President, 1932-33.

She is a student whom we call both gentle and firm. A very modest maiden with a staunch and noble purpose.

LONG, MURIEL

Muriel

352 Senator St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteer Representative, 1932-33.

It doesn't take her long to do anything. She has a sense of humor and knows all the answers. She's a true artist and a good sport.

MARTIN, DUDLEY

Dud

48 Harte St., Baldwin, L. I., N. Y.

Artsmen Representative, 1932; Class Baseball, 1931-32; Captain Class Baseball, 1933; Class Basketball, 1932.

"Dud" is one of the outstanding Artsmen basketball stars. Dreamy eyes, witty and a pleasant disposition and quite a man with the ladies.

MEOLA, JOHN C.

Meelio

122 Third Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class President, 1932; Marionette Club, 1932; Art Director Marionette Club, 1933.

One of Pratt's finest products who we are sure will cap all honors in the future as he has in the past.

PAUL, RAYMOND

Ray

486 Fourth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Artsmen Swimming, 1931-32-33; Prattonia Representative, 1932.

Our class photographer. To him, accuracy like virtue is its own reward. He's always ready for a laugh, but nevertheless is really serious in his work.

PLOTKIN, EDWARD

Ed

501 Bird Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

Photographic Editor Prattonia, 1933.

Business, business all the time. He puts himself right into everything, and if you don't watch out he's in your pocket for dear old Pratt.

PRATTONIA

QUINBY, DOROTHY

Dot

1964 East 22nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

She goes about with that nonchalance to do her bit for the day. Keep up the good work, "Dot".

SMITH, ROGER P.

Smitty

4490 Whitney Ave., Mount Carmel, Conn.

Though few know it, "Smitty" is a real master of music as well as a real artist, but despite this handicap he is sure to make good.

THERRIEN, ARTHUR H.

Art

10 Orchard St., Holyoke, Mass.

Class Bowling, 1931-32; Artsmen Bowling, 1931-32.

"Art" seems to rush home during holidays. We wonder why? He sure does his work and is always willing to lend a helping hand.

WOLFSON, SIDNEY

Sid

90 Bainbridge St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Swimming, 1931.

Here is our true master of charcoal. A quiet conscientious fellow with enough questions to stop Ripley. Have you enough portraits of yourself, "Sid".

SUCCESS if born of resolution!" And so resolved to make famous water colorists of ourselves—off we go to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. First it was line drawings of furniture in elevation, then an attempt at pencil rendering and finally—color and perspective. There, surrounded by the inevitable mat, which really isn't any good if we do tip over a pail, we sit perched on our humble throne, the camp stool, which is as unstable as that of Spain should we be suddenly deposed by the parting of the mainstays. "Well, as the book says, so it must be—Well, anyway, I don't see it!", is the not unfamiliar reply as we struggle to reflect the color of the floor, wall, ceiling, tapestry and everything else that may be in sight. Then the guards, they mean well and certainly are a source of entertainment in their attempts to encourage as well as console.

In our class history our annual bus trips are not to be forgotten. Let it suffice that "A good time was had by all!". Then for those who were unfortunate enough not to be along, we'll use the other trite expression, "Having a swell time! Wish you were here."

WE are concerned here with the extremely interesting and momentous review of our past efforts and a possible prophecy of our future.

We pause then after three years of intensive concentration, years that have been filled with the riches of new knowledge, with the joys of new discoveries, with the stimulation of personal contacts, we pause to survey the world as it exists about us, the reality of which we must become a vital part, that for which we have unquestioning in our youthful faith been contemplating and preparing for.

Let us realize—we students, the full momentousness, the full possibilities that exist for us. Yes, let us realize that as never before is youth so necessary to a sick world, a world tottering on so badly conceived foundations. Material personal gain is apparently the acme of human achievement. Greed and intolerance are universal institutions. Man's affinity to work is becoming undermined by the nimble machine. Art surrounded by a deadly materialism sinks lower and lower becoming a vast catalog of differentiated cults all claiming the true art.

Consider then how imperative are the new values, the new vigor, and faith that live in us, how priceless.

We sense our responsibility—but we strain to try our strength. We leave a group of men and women eager—eager to go forth into the greatest of all adventures.

PORTR. ROBERT J., Jr. Bob

152 Beach 97th St., Rockaway Beach, N. Y.

The droll genius of the heavy line—not charcoal. Catch that merry eye! Earnest conviction on most any subject, and if you're not converted it isn't his fault.

RICHARDSON, GLORIA H. Gloria

2049 East 17th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Captain Volleyball, 1931-32; Swimming, 1932-33.

A strong student with dreamy eyes and unruffled brow—Gloria never gets up in the air about anything, but she carries her head in the clouds.

ROSENBLATT, MILTON Rosie

1326 East 8th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Vigor in his work! He reads the modern Germans and likes to disbelieve, but his facility makes us believe in him.

ROSS, A. LESLIE Joe

Wellington Ave., Short Hills, N. J.

Class President, 1930-31.

The boy who utilizes his six feet of height to get away from his drawings. Another one of these "Jersey boys" who dabbles in paints—didn't you know.

ROTOLO, JOACHIM

95 Gates Ave., Brooklyn N. Y.

President Women's Glee Club, 1932-33.

After three years we are all used to the chirp and the sigh and the musical sneeze. As a soprano she gives us the benefit of her practicing in class for glee club appearances.

WIELOGORSKI, HENRY

Wilo

430 62nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A northern visitor, a son of the Vikings, a slow burning fire with a really subtle sense of humor. The magic of Brahms, Schubert and Beethoven are not lost to him.

WRIGHT, STANLEY MARK

Stan

31 Stanley Rd., South Orange, N. J.

Artsmen Soccer, 1930-31-32; Basketball, 1930.

The smiling painter with the blond marcel, our brilliant young representative in the National Water Color Show. Discriminating connoisseur of women, and how can Wright be wrong?

LIFE is like some gorgeous tapestry through which golden threads have traced their design. We see ambition weaving its way through this fabric. We see hope adding a tone of beauty. And across the tapestry is a shadow of gold which helps to make the pattern complete—friendship. We have, all of us, found real social happiness at Pratt.

A slender thread, reflection, in the tapestry, reaches back to the very beginning of our existence at Pratt. We awoke one September day to find ourselves in new surroundings. Upon entering a room that hummed with voices, we became members of one of the largest teacher training classes the school has ever known. Ours was a congenial group. Something whispered within us—"We are all one". That, however, lasted only for a short while for we found, much to our regret, that due to its enormous size our group had to be divided.

Now the pattern glows with rich beauty for at last, in our senior year, we have been reunited. We are seriously and earnestly looking forward to the attainment of our careers. A great field is being opened before us and with all due modesty—we feel sure we will succeed. We are deeply grateful to our instructors who with untiring effort have given us their all.

ADLER, HAROLD L. Harry

948 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Artsmen Representative, 1932; Marionette Club, 1931-32; Fencing, 1930.

Honest—ambitious—likeable—problematic.

Ah, the boy himself! Harry sure can take it. Essentially a good soort and the possessor of limited editions.

PRATTONIA

BALL, KATHARINE R. Kay

8619 Elmhurst Ave., Elmhurst, L. I., N. Y.

Paleteers, 1930-31-32-33; Captain Class Hockey, 1930; Basketball, 1931-32; Captain Baseball, 1932-33.

Clear-sighted—quiet—athletic—engaged.

Kay looks ahead and plans for the future. She loves more than her art—reason? Worthwhile!

BARRISKILL, DOROTHEA Mrs.

105 Carlton Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1933

Ambitious, virtuous, settled, persevering.

A serious soul, working with untiring effort towards her goal. Our best wishes for your success.

BEECHER, ROSEMARY Rosemary

8930 118th St., Richmond Hill, N. Y.

Secretary Glee Club, 1932-33; Dramatic Club, Green Room Group, 1933.

Dramatic, aesthetic, refined, innocent.

Material things mean nothing to Rosemary. Art, music and drama claim her attention. A truly artistic nature.

BINDELL, HILDEGARDE F. Fay

2414 Avenue R, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Glee Club, 1930-31; Paleteers, 1930-32.

Retiring, industrious, unhurried, pleasant.

Musically, artistically, athletically, she attains her goal. Few realize her capacity for real hard work.

BODINE, ELIZABETH

Betty

45 Maple Ave., Flemington, N. J.

Captain Basketball, 1930-31; Basketball, 1932-33; Paleteers, 1932; Baseball, 1931-32; Hockey, 1930.

Unaffected, frank, likeable, happy.

Has athletic powers which she refuses to display. Broken bones versus goal posts. "Now, Herbie—get my coat".

BOLE, ELIZABETH

Betty

53 Woodbine St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1930-31-32.

Sensible, steady, scholarly, diplomatic.

Really the girl nobody knows. Whither thy thoughts, Betty? Arizona?

BOWMAN, CATHRYN L.

Kay

Washingtonville, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1930-31-32-33; Green Room Group, 1933; Baseball, 1932; Volley Ball, 1931.

Willowy, athletic, blythe, regular.

Designs, makes and wears clothes well—a tailored woman. "Kay" can turn her versatile nature to many things and succeed in them all.

BROWN, GLADYS E.

Gladys

151 Engle St., The Mayflower, Englewood, N. J.

Paleteers, 1930-31-32.

Good-natured, mirthful, friendly, vivid.

Clothes from Best's, a sparkling humor and an atmosphere that spells New Jersey sunshine.

BUTLER, IRMA

Irma

41-42 Parsons Blvd., Flushing, L. I., N. Y.

Basketball, 1931-33; Fencing, 1931; Woman's Club Representative, 1931; Volley Ball, 1932; Athletic Council, 1932.

Blase, stunning, highbrow, moderne.

Unfettered by the usual restrictions Irma comes, goes and does as her fancy dictates.

CAMPBELL, ELIZABETH Skippy

663 Ovington Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1933; Basketball, 1930; Baseball, 1932.

Good-hearted, quiet, dainty, determined. The instinct of a painter, the originator of the ring-a-week plan. A miss who is sweeter than sweet.

PRAFFONIA

CAPALDO, JENNIE Jennie

Individual, artistic capable, temperamental. Jennie is guided by her own judgment. We marvel at her skill. An all around technician.

CAUVET, ELEANOR B. Couvettie

20 Clover Hill Pl., Montclair, N. J.

Paleteers, 1932.

Staunch, systematic, congenial, vegetarian. Helpful to the nth degree, Eleanor's suggestions are always cheerfully accepted. Was your uncle Charlemagne a craftsman?

CICCOLELLA, OLYMPIA Chickie

8311 13th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1931-32; Paleteer Representative, 1932.

Intangible, silent, shy, sincere.

She's very tiny and exhibits a surprising modesty for this day and age, but can she sling oil paint!

COCHRAN, THELMA C. Thelma

6907 19th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1932-33.

Sensitive, unassuming, pleasant, considerate.

All the world is queer 'cept thee and me, and sometimes even thou art queer.

PRAIRONIA

COOKE, GEORGE A.

Cookie

191 Pennsylvania Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Clean-cut, neat, steadfast, entertaining.

He began as an illustrator but succumbed to the pedagogical urge. There are "Methods" in his madness. Etchings and wood-cuts hold a particular appeal for George.

COOPER, GERTRUDE V.

Gertie

2410 Pitkin Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1931-32-33.

Unique, self-sufficient, opinionative, conscientious.

A good hard worker who refuses to lose her individuality.

"Don't say Cochran say Cooper".

CORNELL, DOROTHY E.

Dot

524 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn N. Y.

Vice-President Paleteers, 1931-32-33.

Immaculate, charming, refined, unforgettable.

A dancing form

An image gay

To haunt, to startle and waylay.

A miss who misses nothing.

DODGE, EDWARD N.

Ed

2846 42nd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

Artsment, 1926-27; Soccer, 1926; General Art, 1926-27; Artsmen Representative, 1931-32; Class President, 1932-33.

Stable, slow, dignified, calm.

No storm can stir his placid depths. There is no doubt that he [our president] will hold a responsible position some day.

DOODY, FRANCES H.

Frances

1760 East 21st St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Glee Club, 1930-31; Volley Ball, 1930-32; Swimming, 1931; Paleteers, 1930-31-32; Dramatic Club, 1931.

Agreeable, unassuming, modest, feminine.

A soft, sweet, silvery voice—who could ask for more—Miss Casey? "Reamer, you sit here".

DRALLE, ELIZABETH M.

Beth

204 15th St., Watervliet, N. Y.

Secretary and Treasurer Dramatic Club, 1931; Assistant Dramatic Director, 1932-33; Marionette Club Scenery Committee, 1932.

Unconquerable, admirable, verbose, literary.

"But, Mr. Wickenheiser, I think " and so, far, far into the class period. Such exuberance!

ELISCU, FRANK

Frank

1456 St. Nicholas Ave., New York, N. Y.

Dramatic Club, 1932; Artsmen, 1931-32; Soulful, artistic, moody, garrulous.

Oh, for the wings of a dove! A sculptor with a flare for teaching. The louder partner of the firm "Adler and Eliscu". A friendly chap.

ERIKSSON, MILDRED J.

Mildred

7034 6th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Palefeers, 1930-31-32; Basketball, 1931; Hockey, 1931.

Amiable, cadetish, conversational, Washingtonian.

Sink the army! Sink the army! Is the navy pulling fast? We wonder! By the way, have you heard about my Grandfather?

ETHEREDGE, GRACE B.

Georgia

2750 Hillcrest Ave., Augusta, Ga.

Palefeers, 1933; Class Secretary, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1931-32.

Soothing, refreshing, poised, transcending. A connoisseur of the finer things in life. To learn is to live. A gem in the hearts of her classmates.

GLOSS, HERBERT H.

Herbie

115 North 4th St., Minersville, Pa.

Artsmen, 1931-32-33; Class Soccer, 1931; Glee Club, 1931-32-33; Varsity Baseball, 1931-32-33; Class President, 1932; Student Council, 1932.

Ambitious quantitative, wholesome, athletic.

Three cheers—an athlete in teacher training. Hold that smile. Rosebuds and who'd have thunk it?

PRATTONIA

GOULD, HELEN M.

Helen

South Kartright, N. Y.

Earnest, pleasant, jolly, sincere.

Has taught and still will teach. Each laugh will win a friend. Heigh-ho! Come to the Catskill Fair! Do I take a swell picture?

HAMLIN, EVA K.

Eva

3569 De Kalb Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1930-31-32; Fencing, 1931-32; Basketball, 1932; Hockey, 1930.

Frank, peppy, capricious, happy-go-lucky.

Eva's effervescent manner and genial disposition will forever win the admiration of those about her. Is the brain ■ boney structure, Miss Hamlin?

HENDERSON, HOPE S.

Hope

69 South Main St., West Hartford, Conn.

Paleteers, 1931-32-33; Glee Club, 1930; Assistant Pianist, 1932; Fencing Club, 1930; Hockey, 1932.

Timid, naive, innocent, obliging.

Pure in heart and life, free from guilt or wrongdoing—unaware of what a wicked world this is, Hope—her name—the facet of her personality. Did Vincie say Ed Wynn!

HUKILL, ELIZABETH G.

Betty

289 Orchard Pl., Ridgewood, N. J.

Women's Club Representative, 1932-33; Student Council, 1932-33.

Practical, capable, loyal, inquisitive.

A delicate personality of unsuspected depth. A pillar of the Women's Club. A date? Say, I'm no two-timer!

LAMONT, MARION E.

Marion

25 Hillcrest Ct., Forestville, Conn.

Paleteers, 1931-32-33; Glee Club, 1931; Dramatic Club, 1932; Student Council, 1933; Women's Club Representative 1933.

Compact, regal, perky, darling.

A dainty little lady, who makes her presence known quietly and inconspicuously. Unforgettable as Pierrette!

MAGUIRE, IRENE V.

Mac

319 81st St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Prattonia Representative, 1930; Class Secretary, 1930; Class Treasurer, 1931; Hockey, 1930.

Bright, charming, philosophical, dreamy.

The soul of a poet, the heart of a woman, an interesting person full of fantasy and imagination.

McCAULEY, CARMEN EILEEN Carmen

2312 Girard Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Glee Club, 1931-32; Captain Hockey, 1931; Paleteers, 1931-32.

Refreshing, natural, engaged.

She has won many friends but fate brought her all the way from Minnesota to catch an architect.

MEYER, E. BYRON Benny

864 Anaconda Ave., Charleston, W. Va.

Artsmen, 1931-32; Class Secretary, 1932; Student Council Representative, 1932; Class Treasurer, 1933.

Witty, dependable, mischievous, playful.

The personification of pep, vim and vigor. A southern gentleman noted for his versatility. When it's sleepy time down South.

MILLER, MAUDE M. Molly

328 Clinton Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1930-32; Dramatic Club, 1931. Smart, attractive, talented, affected.

All the world's a stage and our Maude is the director. An English lady with Parisian chic.

MORELL, ELIZABETH Sue

Riverhead, L. I., N. Y.

Volley Ball, 1931; Swimming, 1931-32; Director—"Riders to The Sea", 1931; Paleteers, 1930-32; Orchestra, 1933.

Shy, distant, demure, athletic.

A vision of loveliness that we often read about but seldom see—that's Sue. Why do you smile Mona Lisa!

PRATTONIA

PASKEN, SYLVIA D.

Syl

1126 55th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1931-32; Class Baseball, 1932; Paleteers, 1931-32-33; Swimming, 1930.

Optimistic, good-natured, ambitious, loquacious.

For she's a jolly good fellow—going in for figure work, oils and jumpers in a big way. "Has anyone a Chesterfield!"

PFAFF, MARGARET F.

Pfaffie

90 Schuyler Ave., Kearny, N. J.

Paleteers, 1931-32; Basketball, 1930-32; Volley Ball, 1932; Captain Baseball, 1931.

Sensitive, likeable, sincere, modest.

In this age of cosmetics, is there any wonder blushes hold their charm? After two years "Pfaffie" can laugh at a joke. She's an excellent side center.

PLANT, EILEEN

Eileen

255 Hewes St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1930-31-32.

Fashionable, curious, coy, engaged.

A study in blue—blue eyes—blue clothes—blue blood and Buddie—blue?

RATH, HILDA M.

Hilda

Flemington, N. J.

Class Vice-President, 1933; Publicity Committee Paleteers, 1932; Hockey, 1931; Captain Class Baseball, 1932; Captain Class Basketball, 1932.

Mirthful, capable, thorough, genuine.

Progress spells success. When better teachers are produced, "Hilda" still will lead. "How'm I doin', Miss Tovey?"

REAMER, HELEN E.

Helen

1568 East 34th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1932-33; Volley Ball, 1933; Swimming, 1932.

Shy, sweet, diminutive, burdened.

Constant worry is quite bad for an ingenue. "Look, Vincie! Isn't this a swell lesson plan?" But what's the objective? Aw—Gee—Whiz.

SAFRONOFF, JASSMINE

Jesse

408 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Class President, 1931; Student Council, 1931; Fencing Club, 1932; Paleteers, 1931-32.

Altitudinous, idealistic, socialistic, deserving.

Jesse came to us handicapped, but has set the pace for the class. She lived a day and life was beautiful.

SARGENT, ELEANOR ANNE

Ell

R. D. No. 2, Norwich, Conn.

Dramatic Club, 1931; Paleteers, 1932.

Conservative, meek, well-read, reliable.

A daughter of New England and of the teaching profession, with a brogue and a sense of humor borrowed from the Irish.

SARNEY, ALBERT ABE

Al

204 Ross St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Authoritative, industrious, cooperative, exuberant.

Your days are endless—your strength stupendous. A disseminator of information.

SORDILLO, CLEMENCE M.

Clem

3743 90th St., Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y.

Paleteers, 1931-32-33; Class Treasurer, 1931; Prattonia Representative, 1933; Hockey Team, 1931; Basketball, 1931-32; Baseball, 1932.

Eager, frenzied, sweet, devilish.

Socrates could blush and so can I. "Clem" has a weakness for country day schools and violets. True individuality cannot be copied. "Oh Clem, you little devil!"

SPARROW, HARRIET E.

Chippy

1121 Glenwood Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Basketball, 1931-32; Glee Club, 1931-32; Paleteers, 1930-31-32; Women's Club Representative, 1930; Class Vice President, 1931.

Delicious, mischievous, petite, genuine.

She doesn't have to be tall to be big. Little Harriet in a "Reo" Chariot.

STOCKING, SUSAN L.

Sue

127 Liberty St., Meriden, Conn.

Paleteers, 1931-32-33.

Reserved, domestic, gentle, worthy.
She has hitched her wagon to a star and hopes to travel very far. Our blackboard artist.

TAYLOR, ELIZABETH

Liz

18 Birchwood Pl., Tenafly, N. J.

Swimming, 1931-32; Paleteer Representative, 1932; Paleteers, 1931-32-33.

Wirey, quaint, sprightly, judicious.

Pen Yan, Tenafly and Georgie. "Lizzie" is a good draftsman and an excellent teacher.

TOVEY, HELEN

Tov

88 East 8th St., Oswego, N. Y.

Paleteers, 1932-33; Paleteer Representative, 1933.

Sparkling, vivacious, frantic, impish.

Life is glorious—live it every hour. Lavinia's daughter—the original little devil. "Benny, have you heard this one? Cunnin' isn't it?"

WALCHAK, FRANK A.

Frank

Maple Hill, Shenandoah, Pa.

Artsmen, 1930-31-32.

Obliging, conscientious, frank, boyish.

"Thy modesty's a candle to thy merit".
When better coal is mined, Maple Hill will mine it.

As we entered Pratt last September, we left behind us a vacation spent in practicing, at leisure, that which we had assimilated in our first year. Some of us naturally had little time for this since we held such jobs as saxaphonist in Catskill hotels, attendant at Jones Beach, and usher for Paramount. Then too, some of us needed diversion and relaxation. Ultimately, we have all firmly decided we should enter the advertising class.

No one said to us after our class was organized, "Now, here you are, the future magazine artists; the future layout men; and the embryo art directors of America." No sir! We were led to the block and told to start chopping. It was all work and has been ever since. Still life! Costume figure! Soap wrappers! Photographs! Page layouts! Posters! Ideas! Technique! Something new! Due today! Hang on, we're making another loop! Such is the thrill of an advertising man's life. It's a darn good thing we like it!

Our class is not entirely self-centered. We all have our sundry avocations. On the Arts-men champion soccer team, the first they ever had, we hold three places. We are also represented on the swimming and basketball teams. We are represented on the student council board.

WE, the members of the first year architectural class, will endeavor to express, in these few lines, our thoughts and intentions. When we entered Pratt Institute last September, we had but two thoughts in our minds. Will we or will we not like the Institute, the faculty, and our classmates? We can now say that we are more than thankful that we made this choice, for after a few months together we have established many a true companionship that will last throughout our lives.

Before we say another word, it is only proper that we now express our thanks to those back home who have made it possible for us to be here. We know that in the present time it is not the easiest thing to put a boy through school. We honestly hope that in some way, some day, we will find means of showing our appreciation.

During the past few months we have endeavored to establish ourselves in athletics, such as soccer, swimming, basketball, and others. We have not made any wonderful examples of championship but are honestly going out to claim all the possible sports that we can master. The Architects, in the past, have always made an outstanding showing in all sports. This, we hope, will be carried on by us.

As to the class in general—we are very young in this game of Architecture and known very little of the many surprises and disappointments that the future holds in store for us, but this we can vouch for.

THE design class of 1935 set out to a good start on September 12, 1932. We found ourselves together, almost twenty-five in number with a sad majority in the female contingent.

Our "good start" consisted of an amazing immediate congeniality in every student and a spirit of friendliness in the group as a whole. We believe we have here an exceptional group of students—exceptional not in talents or abilities, but in a careful yet care-free attitude to life in a willingness to please the other fellow and accept him without question. Already we have had innumerable good times together and we see many more to come.

As a class, we think, we are average in our work. As individuals we vary as to talents. But some things we have in common—a sincere interest in our work, a desire to become proficient, and the ambition to get ahead.

Next year we shall be split up. The class will be divided and each side shall go its separate way. But we shan't forget our year together. The class this year has those qualities that will make it stand out in the minds of its individual members. It has those things which will make us remember, long after other things are forgotten, and happy friendliness of the class of design 1935.

TO be a successful fashion artist one must learn to wear fashions successfully.

We, the fashion class of '34, are always able to live up to the reputation of former fashion artists. We manage to make a smart appearance at all the social events of the school. Social activities, however, are not the only things in life. Work is important in the scheme of things and work is a pleasure to us. Our work consists of drawing long, slim figures and dressing them up, each girl trying to do her best with her creative ideas.

One ruler and one bottle of ink can do triple duty but Harpers Bazaar and Vogue are never forgotten when we go to class.

We spend hours gazing into the windows of smart shops and promenading on the avenues, carrying every tricky little hat and every unusual gown in our minds for future reference.

Surely, with all this fashion atmosphere and material that we gather continuously, we can't help becoming remarkable illustrators when we finally face this difficult world in '34.

We are greatly indebted to our instructors for the criticism and guidance they are always willing to offer.

It is our earnest and sincere objective to leave a good impression in the channels of Pratt history and to begin our third year with this same amount of determination and fraternal spirit. Our officers have lived up to our expectations and have fulfilled their positions to the utmost.

IN the fall of 1932, thirty-eight students entered the portals of Pratt Institute, imbued with a sincere ambition and a desire to do, bringing with us parental hopes and the good wishes of our friends.

Awed by Mr. Boudreau's address, inspired by his remarks, proud of his compliments, we found ourselves on the threshold of our career. Our goal was selected: already we were on the road to it. Whether we would attain it or not—that rested on us alone.

We rejoiced at the Welcome Dance given in our honor by the upper classmen, appreciating their work and thoughtfulness. The Faculty Reception will be forever cherished in our memories.

We are already proud of the achievements of our class members in various sporting activities, boxing, soccer, and basketball.

Perhaps not too rapid but ever progressive, our class will in time bid fair to hold its own in scholastic standards. Some are fast forging ahead, promising great things; others not so prominent in their progress are moving steadily along, sincere in spirit and effort.

To our various faculty members who are guiding us along, patient, untiring, and encouraging, we are indeed greatly indebted.

TO pass through unfamiliar portals is nothing unusual. Yet our entrance to Pratt Institute was quite a sensation for each of us. We now stood on the first step leading to a definite future. Thirty-four total strangers gazed upon each other. How could we call it a class? The halls and rooms seemed cold. How could we accomplish results?

With the passing of a few days we found ourselves a perfectly blended group. New York's dialect now fluently intermingled with Georgia and Alabama drawls. The New Englanders dropped their customary reserve and accepted the fraternalism of the class. A son of California slowly made his presence known. Then to our surprise we noticed a foreign accent. A lad from Hungary!

New problems when presented to the class were taken in a careless unconcerned manner. Yet the completion of these problems brought out the true facts. There were plenty of hard workers.

Our social activities have been numerous and very successful. All seemed to join in and lend a helping hand to make whatever we did enjoyable to everyone. In athletics we were well represented on all teams. In Basketball, however, we excelled.

We of Illustration IB shall reach the top of these steps and enter the house called success.

AFTER the first few months of settling down to new environment we have found that, as a class, we are able to work together in harmony and organization. Our work is done with zest, a way in which only those who enjoy the work can do it. At this time, let us express our appreciation for the advice and splendid leadership our teachers have given us.

We have had a great deal of fun attending the dances and basketball games given by the upper classmen, and some one of these days, we're going to return the good times by giving such a party that will be worthy of the annals of Pratt History!

Athletics and club organizations have been of interest to the more adventurous ones of our class. We had a winning volleyball team last fall, and later on several other members were in the swimming meet.

Those who find the time have attended the Sketch Club, and the Glee Club and the teas which take place at the Women's Club where we have had the opportunity of meeting people from other classes.

We feel that our first year is merely a preliminary introduction to the things we hope to do in our remaining two years. Not only will our class rooms hum and the midnight oil burn, but there will be good times that each one of us will remember in all our later years.

ILLUSTRATION ID identifies itself as being a class of girls all one would want them to be. They are congenial, enthusiastic, imaginative, interested and interesting. In the midst of student activities you will find them doing their bit. It seems that their favorite teacher is experience and their favorite subject is talking. Different girls have already shown themselves at the head of various classes, causing close contesting and steady friendly rivalry at all times.

We look forward to our next year with pleasure. We feel, however, that our mettle has been tried in the past year. Many different personalities gathered to make up this class. Some came from college, some from normal school and others had been teaching. Each and every one has tried to be honest to their work and to the traditions of Pratt. We believe that this refining effort, together with the carefully planned course which we undertook, has developed a stronger character and a wider and more liberal viewpoint in each of us.

On the whole, they can be considered as an up and coming class of girls who are out to accomplish things. We prophesy that before long you will see many of them arriving at the top of their chosen line of art.

BETWEEN working in class, sketching in museums, subways, zoos and other such art-inspiring places, the I-X class of February, 1932, has acquired the experience which places it in the position to be regarded as one of the most progressive classes of the Institute; one that has matured from the babyhood of uncertainty and inexperience to the adulthood of a professionally ambitious attitude.

It is not merely because of our being freshmen, and therefore afraid of the consequences of absence, that we have had at least ninety-eight percent attendance at every dinner and lecture, but simply because of the sincerity of our aim here. At least two out of every ten posters in the halls are the result of the volunteered services of the class:—and was it not members of the fairer sex of the group who instigated the proposal which culminated in the formation of a girls basketball team? Are these facts not indicative of the spirit of co-operation with which this class is possessed?

If initiative, ability, and resourcefulness are accepted as constituents of success, it is certain that this class, upon its graduation from Pratt, will be one of the most ambitious groups to present itself to the professional world.

In the course of a few short months very little history can be made but if there is any to be made our class of 41 will make it. It has been a happy few months making new friends and getting accustomed to new and pleasant surroundings.

Our little history has already started, and we expect it will continue. We have been told that we are the youngest class ever to have entered Pratt. Ask Mr. Graves. Our work in costume is, as a class, well above expectations. That's right! Ask Mr. Cimiotti. As for noise, well, just ask Mr. Petersen. Of course it might be asking too much telling you to ask every one about these little things so we'll try to tell a few. We have, as most of the classes have, the pick of the country's high schools. But many in our little class have done commercial work already which shows great promise for the future.

We are not going to brag about us any longer. We are enjoying our stay at Pratt. We wish all the graduates all the success in the world, and just watch our smoke.

THE existence of the second year class in design, we think it safe to say, has proceeded this past year upon a calmer, smoother plane than it did the preceding year.

At the beginning of this year, half our number left us to become Interior Decorators, and the ensuing loneliness combined with the strangeness of sitting at the foot of the third-year class, as it were, subdued us enough to quell a little of our bumptiousness and add gravity. The third year class continued to set us, all through the year, an admirable example for industry and excellent work. We have been striving to reach and keep their level.

We wonder whether, when we will have attained that enviable position of the senior class, we will feel as superior as we think we will; and whether we can be as good an influence for the approaching second year class as the seniors have been to us.

We already have serious thoughts for the future when we will no longer have the kindly shelter of Pratt to turn to, when we will have to apply our small learning in some sort of renumerative way. Ah, but such apprehensions add nothing to any prospect! Tomorrow is another day!

WITH the portals of a lazy, delightful summer closed upon us, we found another pair of doors standing wide to welcome us back to Pratt.

We returned to find our class considerably diminished, and needless to say, we did miss the other half of the class which had decided to go the way of all Designers.

A new club was organized consisting of first, second and third year Designers and Decorators. It was given the name of "DESDEC", and affords a splendid opportunity for wider acquaintance among the students.

Our forces were once more joined with the Designers in a dance given for the new students which proved to be a huge success.

Work continued to grow more and more, and also more interesting as the year advanced. Then along came Christmas, which called for a party, which called for much eating, drinking (in the softer sense) and making merry, and there was.

The New Year brought many resolutions and serious thinking about work. Time for marks, which brought many, many resolutions and deeper and better thinking.

Spring brought the usual warm breezes. Pert hats appeared and a general shearing of long tresses. With these came the realization that the year was almost finished.

THIS year we found the Pictorial II class to be composed of both boys and girls. As usual when there is this combination the inevitable happens—confusion. The members of our class have come to Pratt from various and remote places. We discovered ourselves to be a congenial, not unduly temperamental group, with an abundance of enthusiasm and ambition to offset our lesser qualities.

The class was well represented in extra-curricula activities, especially athletics. Every Artsmen team had at least a couple of Pictorial II men on it. Reed and Mazula were regulars on the Artsmen championship soccer team last fall. Grodin and Hughes were Artsmen officers, and John Behr was director of the Marionette Club play.

The class held no parties or dances independently but was very much in evidence at parties and dances held by other classes. Our party which was held jointly with Advertising II was very successful.

We hope that next year we will be able to carry on as our predecessors have done and that we may be able to leave a name as highly praised as theirs.

We are a happy-go-lucky group with merely enough seriousness to realize that we are soon to be struggling to earn our living in the field in which we chose before entering Pratt.

O UR second year at Pratt! What a glorious year! Not one of us could have imagined the things that have happened to us this year.

At the beginning of the year we were so sorry to lose our old comrades who had undergone with us the trials and tribulations of our first year and who, now, had turned into by-ways different from ours. It did not take us long to adjust ourselves to the new situations; so, accepting several new mates, we went busily on with our program. There was design, water-color, advertising, crafts, English, and psychology—psychology, the unforgettable inoculation into our meek, subjective brains. This matter of psychology, by far, symbolizes our second year—and how much better we are for it! What an unfor-giveable sin to neglect Mr. Roy's Methods Class. Although, our only probable plea is that none of our future pupils will ever see our community drawings. To say the least, we enjoyed doing them, in spite of the results. It seems that in years to come, we shall for-ever see jungles, lions, and tigers as we teach.

How soon our joys and troubles of another year at Pratt Institute have passed, and how we wish we might relive them a hundred times over! Now, it is time for us to surrender our second year title and prepare for a senior year. Into this new, strange, last year we hope to carry our unconquer-able spirit that we have so far possessed. We shall try to uphold the standards of Pratt and do honor to her name.

TEACHER Training students should never sleep. That was the conclusion arrived at by the 2B class. We got together one day and recounted our dreams, which, when combined, made a horrible nightmare. Just listen, and see if you don't agree with us:

Charles the Fifth was marching on Louis the Fourteenth. For some reason or other, we found ourselves on the battleground as part of one of the armies. The situation was serious. We were hemmed in by the enemy. Their leader, General Study, was an old campaigner, a veteran of many wars against teacher-training students. His forces, commanded by Generals Methods, Psychology and History were slowly but surely surrounding us; they were armed to the teeth with text-books and quizzes. We were weaponless, but for a few flimsy shields of common sense. As we huddled in the trenches the enemy fired a book-report which exploded with a deafening crash. We were showered with quizzes—a term paper burst in our midst, inflicting terrible damage. They were just about to unleash one of their devastating final exams when the bell rang for the model to rest. Had it not been for that bell, we might still be out there on that hectic battlefield, fighting off book-reports and homework assignments.

It was a nightmare, and it left us all weak and exhausted. At present we are trying to induce Congress to pass a law prohibiting sleep. It's too dangerous.

SCHOOL OF

SCIENCE AND ARTS

SCHOOL OF HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE AND ARTS

THE founder, Charles Pratt, specified in the charter of the Institute that the work of the School of Household Science and Arts should center around food, clothing and homemaking. He knew full well the necessity at all times of a thorough understanding of the fundamentals of living. Whereas the approach, technique and processes might and would differ as the years went by yet the fundamentals would always remain. His vision was prophetic, for the School of Household Science and Arts is functioning today along these same lines; and the need of this work is far greater today than when the Institute was founded, for during this time the whole economic, social and political status of women has changed.

While it is true that the approach, technique, and processes have changed with the years, we find the emphasis today is for specific training along the definite lines of dietitians, cafeteria and tea room managers, costume designers and dressmakers, as well as along the general lines of homemaking. Through all the years, the function of this School has been to present a balanced, intensive program of head, heart and hand—a plan which differentiates Pratt Institute from all other institutions—whereby the students absorb the ideals that should make all education worth while. By means of the intensive courses a thorough, practical training is obtained in half the time of the usual college course, and the earning power is equally enhanced.

DURING our first year we worked and worried in our attempt to try to become costume designers. With first year enthusiasm, hard work and keen and generous help of our instructors we became senior students.

This year an interesting experiment was carried out for the Abraham and Straus fashion show. Business methods were brought into our classroom. A well known New York designer was with us for this problem.

The biggest event this year was the Wanamaker show which proved a real success.

The Artisan's Club gave very successful teas during the year, and had as guests many brilliant and noted women who spoke to the club. We also have been most fortunate to have such a noted designer as Miss Bouslogue speak to us several times, and help us in our creating. Our class dance proved to be a popular event of the year. Another interesting success was the tea we gave for our Junior sisters, who will take our places this coming year. We wish them the greatest success in the coming year as we realize that they have a very difficult task ahead of them.

Just as we looked forward to the time when we would become Seniors so do we now look forward to becoming members of the business world. We will, however, be able to look back with pride upon the school to which we owe so much.

BROWNE, WINIFRED H. Winifred

74 Wilsey St., Newark, N. J.

A conscientious worker, who goes along in her quiet, gentle way. We wish "Winifred" all the luck in the world.

CALLAHAN, CONSTANCE T. Connie

1194 Hampden St., Holyoke, Mass.

"Connie" is greatly interested in her designing and has done a lot of hard work during her stay here.

COUCH, A. ELIZABETH Beth 631 Illinois St., Sidney, Neb.

Though we haven't known "Beth" as long as our other classmates, we have found her to be a great girl.

DI MAGGO, MARIE G. Igzie

39-04 103rd St., Corona, L. I. N. Y.

Patience, Enthusiasm and Perseverance are among "Igzie's" inherent virtues. What a memory! Dependable and how!

DIMOND, GLADYS Glad

80 Wakefield St., Spring Glen, Hamden, Conn.

"Glad" is always on the alert for ideas. In addition she's stunning, beautifully poised, and blessed with a charming sense of humor.

ERD, E. JANE

Janie

2373 Military St., Port Huron, Mich.

Prattonia Representative, 1932-33.

"Jane's" a jolly good pal and friend. She should get the best references as to her character, dependability, personality and ability.

EVERITT, DOROTHY E.

Dot

164-13 89th Ave., Jamaica, L. I., N. Y.

Class Treasurer, 1933; Vice President Artisan Club, 1931-32; President Artisans Club, 1933; Vice President Home Economics Club, 1932-33.

"Dot", the loyal worker, who says little but accomplishes much. To her we wish much success and happiness.

GANDOLFO, FRANCES J.

Fran

2427 Hoffman St., New York, N. Y.

One girl in a million, and one who can't help but be successful in the business world with her ability and her keen mind.

GILTZ, FRIEDA M.

Fritz

Brier Hill, N. Y.

"Fritz" has a way about her that just gets you. She's a great girl and we shall miss her. Good luck, "Fritzy!"

HIBBETT, PRISCILLA C.

Priscilla

Castalian Springs, Tenn.

Our Mason-Dixon Valentine, "Priscilla" with her charming personality has made a great many friends during her sojourn in the North.

HOFFMAN, LORNA F. Lorna

16 Winchester St., Norwich, Conn.

A quiet diligent worker is "Lorna". We wish her lots of success after she passes through the portals of Pratt.

PRAITONIA

IRELAND, VENETIA E. Vee

Fourth Ave., Greenport, L. I., N. Y.

Captain Class Volley Ball, 1931; Captain Baseball, 1932.

"Vee" is one of those attractive girls who are essential in every school. She has worked hard, and we foresee an interesting future.

KAY, GERTRUDE E. Kay

270 Orchard Terr., Bogota, N. J.

Enough can't be said about "Gertie". She's a swell girl, who always works hard and is always rewarded. Adios.

KENNY, ELEANOR M. Eleanor

462 Lincoln Pl., Orange, N. J.

"Eleanor" is a steady, honest worker in school, but after hours she loves parties and good times.

KURLAND, EVA Eva

1375 Washington Ave., New York, N. Y.

We hope "Eva" will stop eating cheese long enough to hear us say, "Best of everything from us all".

LEACH, HELEN M.

Helen

12 Rodney Rd., Scarsdale, N. Y.

We predict a great future for "Helen", with her ability to design and wear clever and sophisticated clothes.

LEVINE, MINNIE R.

Min

148 Fairview Ave., Somerville, N. J.

She may think that her flowers are her best friends but I fear not, too many of us would like to be called that.

LIENHARD, FRANCES E.

Betty

69 Golf St., Maple Hill, New Britain,
Conn.

Our smiling, cheerful companion always has a kind word for everyone. It has been lovely having the friendship of such a good sport.

LITTLEFIELD, ETHEL S.

Ethel

274 Lafayette Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Home Economics Representative, 1931-32;
Class Secretary, 1932-33.

"Ethel", the happy-go-lucky carefree girl, who takes life as it comes and has a passion for designing flaming red gowns.

MANAHAN, MARY E.

Mary

2 Morris Ave., Mountain Lakes, N. J.

Class Vice-President, 1932-33.

"Mary" is a great worker, and we know that she'll do well: cheerio, "Mary".

MERRITT DOROTHY W. Dot
1 Lincoln Ave., West Barrington, R. I.
Treasurer Artisans Club, 1932-33.
A girl with high hopes and great ideas.
Lots of success, "Dot" in your career as a designer.

MONSO ROSE Rose
226 Kings Highway, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Patience personified. It's hard to understand how one person could have all the good qualities that "Rose" possesses.

MORRIS ORAH M. Orie
170 St. Clair Blvd., Hamilton, Ontario
Canada
"Orie" is a good and conscientious worker, a jolly classmate and a fine sport. In other words a real girl.

MORRISON HAZEL M. Hazel
10 West 131st St., New York, N. Y.
Patient and steadfast are two of "Hazel's" virtues. We wish you health, wealth and happiness.

PADULA CATHERINE A. Kay
137 Coman St., Hillside, N. J.
"Kay" has given generously of herself for everyone's pleasure. Her happy personality has helped to make school something never to be forgotten.

RANDAL, HELEN

Helen

297 Argyle Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Charming! You bet! Lovely girl! We should say so—and friendly as can be. We all like "Helen".

ROOT, HARRIET L.

Hi

359 Central Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Women's Club Representative, 1931-32.
"Hi" has been flaunting a diamond in our faces since last spring. Lots of happiness "Hi".

RUBINSKY, RUTH S.

Ruth

111-37 121st St., Richmond Hill, L. I.,

N. Y.

She is not a "sophisticate" but has a quiet manner that impresses the bystander. We wish "Ruth" good luck, good health and happiness—always.

SALTZMAN, MURIEL

Murrie

5206 Tilden Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The girl who loves to sketch. In bidding our farewell, may we say good luck, happiness and joy.

SCHNEIDER, HENRIETTA N.

Lala

940 Grand Concourse, New York, N. Y.

Although someone once compared "Lala" with the Sphinx, we do know that she intends to go to Paris one of these days. Bon Voyage!

SIENFELD, JULIA

Julie

1773 East 23rd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Secretary Artisan's Club, 1932-33.

"Julie" in dress, plans, and personality there is nothing careless about her; indeed we sometimes feel "flat" in comparison with her finished airs.

SHAFFER, THELMA H.

Theil

175 E. Main St., Port Jervis, N. Y.

Class President, 1932-33.

We wish our lovely class president the just awards for the work which she has so cleverly achieved.

SHINN, REBA H.

Ree

37 Rawley Pl., Millburn, N. J.

Class Treasurer, 1932-33; Secretary Home Economics Club, 1932-33.

"Ree" hails from Buffalo and Cornell. She has been a welcome classmate and a lot of fun.

SLUSHER, RHODA K.

The Kid

335 Jerome Ave., Astoria, Oregon

Class President, 1931-32.

"Rhoda's" laugh is certainly contagious, and we know that there is plenty of fun in store for us when she is around.

STOPGESHOFF, RUTH J.

Ruth

46 Brown Ave., Holyoke, Mass.

Home Economics Club Representative, 1932-33.

Holyoke's contribution to our class. We surely appreciate "Ruth's" sense of humor, and her lovely red hair.

PRATTONIA

THOMPSON A. MAY

Tommie

80 Middle St., Gloucester, Mass.

"Tommie", the girl with personality plus. We all love her gorgeous smile and winning ways. Here's to success and happiness forever!

TREMPER, S. ELINOR

Tremp

2697 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Captain Class Basketball, 1931-32-33; Athletic Representative, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1932-33.

Our little athlete, who has more pep than could be imagined in one person. "Tremp" is one great girl.

TRIPODO, AIDA E.

Trip

118 New Smith St., Inwood, L. I., N. Y.

Women's Club Representative, 1932-33; Glee Club, 1932-33.

"Trip" is a hurrying, hustling, little person who always looks neat and, may we say, cute. She is undeniably efficient and conscientious.

VARIDI, HELEN

Helen

169 Pacific St., Newark, N. J.

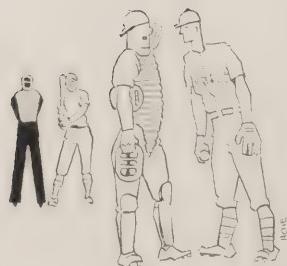

One of our budding artists. Whenever you see "Helen", Ruth is sure to be somewhere nearby.

On September 29, 1932, our plane took off for the second time. A vast difference between this and our previous take-off was noticeable. No hesitancy, no tailspins, no barrel rolls to mar the smooth flight.

According to tradition our guardian plane issued a call to us to be at the flying field to meet passengers of other planes lodged in our hangar. At this event we were the proud escorts of our sister ship.

Our relations with other craft had now definitely begun. Air meets and gatherings followed, all contributing to an eventful and exciting trip. Although there followed a winter of hard flying, we were nevertheless confident because we knew that our guardian plane was steadily circling about us willing and capable of rendering aid.

However, our diligence and hard labor were not to go unrewarded. On our two trips we had learned enough about the mechanics and technique of flying to receive in June 1933, the treasured emblem of all aviators—our Wings.

TWO hundred words, no more, no less—
O! this is a disturbing mess!
Wait—the mists begin to clear,
A story of dressmakers you shall hear.

We are in number, forty-two,
On the next few pages you'll see who's who.
One year we girls have stitched and sewn.
A part of this book to call our own.

In making an apron for the test
We all tried hard to do our best.
Every girl shivered in her shoes
When her apron was presented for Miss Kinney's views. [To be or not to be—a student in Pratt Institute!]

Power machine, we understood
Was taught by Mrs. Underwood.
We learned to do our design stunts
Under the guidance of Miss Duntz.
In embroidery some of us were loafers,
But it was hard to fool Miss Govers.
Some may come back for a year or two more
To see what Costume Design holds in store.
Thru these two terms that were really a lark,
We've been guided by Stannard, McKeon and Clark.
Last by not least there have come to my mind
Some names I almost left behind.

ON that memorable day in September some twenty prospective homemakers entered Pratt's stately halls to seek knowledge and learning. They came from all parts of the United States and also from abroad. The wheel of time will have its revolution again and we will be budding in a few years and spreading the good name of Pratt throughout the world. The accumulated knowledge will be invaluable to us and each will be grateful to her Alma Mater for a firm and reliable information.

We, as homemakers of the class of 1933, look ahead with a vast knowledge of what is before us, and we are interested and keen about that work which we all expect to do.

Although our course is limited to one year, we have found new and valuable knowledge along the lines of food and dietetics; ideas on the rearing and keeping children healthy, the making of present fashionable clothes, and a bit of house furnishings. It has been the aim of our homemaking class to realize as far as possible the ideal situation thus depicted of woman's place in life, to give to her actions that focus of intention which make her every move a factor in the development of the ideal home.

Many strong friendships have been formed and we feel sure that they will continue throughout the rest of our lives.

WHAT a short, full year this has been! The most vivid thing we remember at Pratt is a warm, friendly, welcome sort of feeling that we had never found anywhere, except, perhaps the home of a good friend. It came with our contact with every person here and even seemed to fill the halls and rooms. We realized that it was not the ordinary "school spirit", but a living, personal Pratt Spirit.

Ordinarily, it takes some time for a group individually opposite in ideas and experience to become adjusted, but this spirit seemed to cut the adjustment period in half. The get-acquainted tea given us by the senior section helped to acclimate us enough so that in two weeks we were ready for organization. In our first meeting the officers were chosen and the budget system of the class was explained to us. We heard the cheerful news that each one's share of this would be reduced by the increase in our treasury from preparing and serving extra dinners at night.

Once we had a chance to see behind the scenes of the centers of our food supply. We saw enormous wholesale markets where quantities of fruit could be bought from a sample, and imagine seeing milk being pumped from tank cars to trucks like gasoline! All this happened on our all night marketing trip which was the high point of the year.

None of us feel very happy to leave all this that we like behind us, but at present our one uppermost thought is "What now"?

ATKIN, CLARA A.

481 Cottage St., Rochester, N. Y.

We certainly will miss "Clara's" chatter resounding through the halls of Pratt. She is a good sport and without whom the class would scarcely be complete.

Clarabel

BANNIN, CATHERINE J.

578 Fourth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

It has been said that "Kay" is a typical New Yorker. She dresses well, and has that air of knowing exactly what she wants to do.

Kay

BEATHAM, LOIS L.

Lois

Lewistown, Montana.

The old saying "small but mighty" may easily be applied to "Lois". She is a quiet little girl and we find her always willing to do her share.

BENEDICT, MARJORIE H.

Margy

22 Marion Ave., Waterbury, Conn.

Athletic Representative, 1933.

Some music, fun with a good crowd and plenty of laughs—that's "Margy". She even gets fun out of work.

BOUGHTON, MAMIE R.

Mamie

1448 East 13th St., Portland, Ore.

"Mamie" hasn't given us very much of a chance to know her. She is one of these quiet people with a serious purpose.

PRATTONIA

BRENNAN, MARGARET M. Maggie

1737 West 9th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Margaret" is a lot of fun, but she can be serious too. We don't think she could make anyone dislike her, even if she tried.

CARTER, ALBERTA M. Alberta

Main St., Rensem, N. Y.

We just can't picture "Alberta" making a rumpus over anything. The likeness to her inseparable twin finds us still mistaking the sisters.

CHEYNE, ELEANOR M. Eleanor

54 Ionia St., Springfield, Mass.

Class President, 1933.

Sincerity and genuine kindness draw people to Eleanor. She is retiring except with the privileged few who know her well.

CHURSON, PAULINE Polly

73 E. Farm St., Waterbury, Conn.

Everybody knows "Polly" as that cute little girl from Waterbury with curly hair. "Polly" always has a smile for everyone, and that smile made her a lot of friends.

CINBERG, LEE L. Lee

1172 Anderson Ave., New York, N. Y.

Nothing stops her. With a wide variety of interests and a very resourceful mind, how can life be anything else but full?

CLARK, ELEANOR M.

158 Crary Ave., Binghamton, N. Y.

"Clarkie" is a fine example of a good little worker. Cheer up Eleanor, some day you will be counting calories for others and not yourself.

Clarkie

PRATT ONIA

CLEVERLEY, JENNIE L.

Jen

R. D. No. 2, Memphis, N. Y.

"Jennie" works quietly, bothering no one, and dutifully doing her share. We have found her a very pleasant person to be with.

COOK, MARY O.

Mary

18 Stephenson Blvd., New Rochelle, N. Y.

On the surface "Mary" is a calm dreamy maid; but just lift the screen, she's a blithe creature with a keen sense of humor and a true interest in work.

CUMMINGS, ELIZABETH H.

Betty

267 Lincoln Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Betty" came here from Mount Holyoke College. She says little, but when she speaks we all listen with grave respect, especially on scientific subjects.

CURTIN, ELLEN C.

Ellen

Farnams, Berkshire Co., Mass.

"Ellen" is certainly arming herself with good preparation for life work. She graduated from St. Luke's Hospital in Pittsfield before coming to Pratt.

DAY MARY L.

Mary Lou

153 Cambridge Ave., Englewood, N. J.

Class Secretary, 1933.

From her name one might expect a quiet, shy little girl, but "Mary Lou" is full of life in every way.

ELLIOTT, LUCY E.

Lucy

550 West 113th St., New York, N. Y.

We know that "Lucy's smile and friendly manner to everyone will take her a long way when she goes into the business world."

FLEMING, DOROTHY K.

Dot

126 Marengo Park, Springfield, Mass.

We're all glad that "Dot" chose to come from Simmons College to Pratt to complete her course, because she's a good sport whom we all like.

FROEDER, MARGARET M.

Margaret

354 East 85th St., New York, N. Y.

"Margaret" is so intent on her work that she seldom says a word. She does things so quietly that her presence is never betrayed.

HAUT, MINNIE

Minnie

154 Riggs St., Dumore, Pa.

"Minnie" is a friend we would not hesitate to go to with our problems. Her cheerful, friendly nature gives her a warm place in our affections.

HEARNS, RUTH T.

Ruth

201 Hancock St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Ruth's" very exact mind probably is an outgrowth of majoring in "math" at college. From her we've learned that vegetables can be peeled correctly if green gloves are used.

PRAFFTONIA

HOWARD, BERNICE

Bernie

15 Henry St., Waterbury, Conn.

We think of "Bernice" as being an easy-going, carefree person, but no one could get such good marks by that alone. She must be a real student.

HOWELL, EDITH A.

Georgia

Zebulon, Georgia.

Women's Club Representative, 1933.

"Edith", our southern classmate, with her radiant, sunny disposition won the admiration of her classmates from the beginning.

JACOB, DOROTHY E.

Dot

21 Upland Way, Verona, N. J.

Because of her friendliness and ready smile "Dot" won the hearts of everyone the very first day. We don't know of anyone who takes her work more seriously.

JACOBS, EVA H.

Eva

Baghdad, Iraq, Mesopotamia.

"Eva" came here with a very serious intention and has not lost sight of it for a minute. She goes about quietly and does any work cheerfully.

JONES, LILLIE L.

Lillie

200 Decatur St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Perhaps her calm self-assurance comes from materializing everyone's secret dream of a perfect apple pie. In addition to this achievement she has real kindness and cooperation.

KELLY, ELIZABETH J.

Betty

60 Cherry St., Elizabeth, N. J.

Prattonia Representative, 1933.

"Betty" is a conscientious sort of person, earnest and ambitious. Her everlasting questions help us out of many uncertainties.

KELLY, KATHLEEN R.

Kelly

549 Riverside Dr., New York, N. Y.

Home Economics Club Representative, 1933.

Nothing seems to dampen her good humor. Her grin is just like one more reason why people like her.

KNIPPING, MRS. EILEEN

Eileen

39 Burnett Pl., Nutley, N. J.

Just mention a good time and "Eileen" is all set. Her ambition travels in a very definite path, which we trust will be materialized.

LE BAGH, FRANCES I.

Middletown, N. Y.

"Frances" is quietly self-contained and has a keen sense of humor. Unassuming as she seems, we all know how responsible she is.

McGEARLD, CONSTANCE B. Connie
77 Pershing Ave., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Class Basketball, 1933.
The class jester—we just dare you to have a long face in "Connie's" presence. It's just impossible!

McKEAN, ETHEL Ethel
1407 Nelson Ave., Bronx, N. Y.
Because she is a special student we don't see much of "Ethel", but when we do see her we enjoy her friendliness and ready smile.

MALBON, PAULINE Polly
East Northfield, Mass.
Class Vice-President, 1933.
It is well to think well, divine to act well, and marvelous when your presence is a pleasure to everyone.

MESQUITA, GRACE B. Grace
341 Rugby Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Grace" is essentially of an even temperament and a clear mind. Even a broken wrist didn't seem to disturb such a cheerful disposition.

MOORE, PRISCILLA E. Pat
Woodstock, Vt.
Class Basketball, 1933.
"Pat" seems to be a very happy person.
Her wiftness and class work show that she is clear-headed.

PRATTONIA

MOSCRIP, SARA H.

Sally

Adena, Ohio.

Class Basketball, 1933.

"Sara" is a sparkling asset to any group. Her love for fun is in sharp contrast with her seriousness in her studies.

MURRAY, DANELLA H.

Dannie

366 86th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Dannie" is another one of our little members who is exceedingly friendly and amusing. We envy her calm acceptance of difficult situations.

PITCH, MRS. PRISCILLA M. Mrs. Pitch

4722 Fort Hamilton Pkwy., Brooklyn,
N. Y.

Her interest and keen enthusiasm in everything is highly esteemed by her classmates and we know her true worth will be recognized wherever she goes.

SCHAMBERGER, MRS. SOPHIE Peggy

11 Sedgewick Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

It's a big job to commute and run a family while going to school, but Mrs. Schamberger is always jolly and ready for fun in spite of everything.

SCOTT, MARY G.

Scotty

263 Pierce St., Kingston, Pa.

She's tiny and pretends to be sedate. But "Mary" can't fool us that way because we've seen her mischief pop up too often.

SHAWELL, SYLVIA E.

Sylly

56 Cherry St., Elizabeth, N. J.

We see "Sylly" as a person who is always willing to help, particularly in the cafeteria where the work is the hardest. People like her easy friendliness.

PRATTONIA

SHERWIN, HELEN R.

Sherwin

480 N. Maple Ave., East Orange, N. J.

Captain Class Basketball, 1933.

Anyone would like that bright, sunny disposition and when she smiles—well, have you ever seen those dimples?

SMITH, DONALD W.

Smitty

16 Van Ness Ave., Santa Cruz, Cal.

Perhaps "Smitty's" previous hotel experience has helped him to get used to girls on every side, but we bet he's glad "Jimmy" is in the class.

SMITH, WINIFRED IRENE

Smitty

28 Bowden Sq., Southampton, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1933.

Once we know "Irene" we find hidden qualities—joviality, true sportsmanship and friendliness which are a pleasure to her acquaintances.

SOKIRANSKY, JEANETTE

Soky

1454 Grand Concourse, Bronx, N. Y.

She will go far with that determination. No one can down her. If anyone needs help, ask "Soky", she is always ready.

PRAITONIA

STEEL, ELIZABETH M. Elizabeth
164 N. Sandusky St., Delaware, Ohio.

To step from secretarial work into the cooking line with perfect ease and understanding shows versatility. Her quiet air must come with efficiency.

STEIMLE, LOUISE A. Louise
713 Pittston Ave., Scranton, Pa.

"Louise" does all of her own thinking, and is outspoken in a diplomatic way. Her quiet humor keeps giving us pleasant little surprises.

STOTT, ESTHER W. Esther Island Pond, Vt.

Her sparkling dark eyes portray her true genial nature. "Esther" is always on hand to help and is indeed a sincere friend and classmate.

STUBBS, MRS. MINNA H. Minna
3 Ithaca St., Waverly, N. Y.

When those sober brown eyes smile, you suddenly realize the underlying mischief in her nature. Accuracy, promptness and neatness are characteristics of all she does.

SUNDERLAND, ELIZABETH E. Betty Milfordale, Conn.

"Betty" never seems to have a care in the world. She has a very friendly air that includes everyone in its warmth.

SWARTZ, VIRGINIA M. Virginia
257 Fisher Ave., Tottenville, S. I., N. Y.

You would have to go a long way before finding anyone so immaculate in appearance. "Virginia" has her own methods of working and always accomplishes her purpose.

FRACTIONAL

TOOLE, W. JAMES Jimmy
9010 176th St., Jamaica, N. Y.

The other courageous soul. His good nature has certainly helped him to find his place among us. We think they're both good sports to enter into things as they have.

TRAVER, RUTH VIRL Virl
Staatsburg, N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1933.
At first we thought "Virl" was retiring, but the impish glint in her eyes made us change our minds quickly.

TROLL, HELEN R. Helen 148 Daniel Low Terr., S. I., N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1933.
Which is "Helen"—the serious minded person in class, or the one who loves people and dancing?

VON DREHLE, ELIZABETH A. Betty
6013 68th Ave., Ridgewood, N. Y.

She has the calm professional air that only comes with experience. Her kindness in giving timely suggestions has prevented our making many mistakes.

WALTERS, LOIS A.

Nettie
100 Savoy St., Bridgeport, Conn.Class Treasurer, 1933; Class Basketball, 1933.

"Lois" is always ahead in her work. We marvel at the energy and like the fun that's in her.

WHEELER, FRANCES E.

Fran
86 Nesbit Terr., Irvington, N. J.

It is really refreshing to find a thoroughly natural person. Because "Frances" takes things calmly she will probably find this old world an easy place to live in.

ZINDEL, MATILDA D.

Tillie
273 Jewett Ave., West New Brighton,
S. I., N. Y.

Class Basketball, 1933.

There are all sorts of smiles, but "Tillie" has the kind that lights up her whole face.
For this reason people will always be drawn to her.

OUR class entered the doors of Pratt Institute on September 12, 1932, eager to grasp all information offered to us as a necessary foundation for our future profession, costume designing.

Some of us had a great ambition to become famous couturieres, but as a group we all felt the urge to become chic young women.

Artists from the heights of our profession brought us numerous interesting facts and theories in order that we might benefit by their experience in the designing world.

After what seemed to us a long lapse of time spent in developing our techniques, we had the opportunity of showing our creative ability. The event, of course, was the Wana-maker Fashion Show which was held in April. Each girl, anxious to exhibit her creation, spent hours in toil and thought, the result being quite satisfactory.

The seniors welcomed us with a tea at the Women's Club and were gracious in their hospitality throughout the year. On February 25, in cooperation with the seniors a dance was given. The wide range of talent in both classes brought forth by the students who furnished the entertainment contributed to the success of the evening.

OUR class, some ninety strong, entered Pratt on the 12th of September; on the 13th, after being divided into four sections, we donned our crisp, new uniforms and entered the spirit of the year's work with gusto. Chemistry, bacteriology and nutrition, for all their high sounding names, held no terrors for us at that time. It was only later, through closer acquaintance, that we were forced into a more respectful frame of mind.

The first of our social functions, the faculty tea, was attended by an enthusiastic crowd of Juniors piloted by their Senior sisters. This was followed by a series of lesser teas, and, in November, we displayed our hospitality and our Pratt spirit, by playing hostess to over two hundred high school girls at the annual Home Economics Club tea.

Having thus gotten our pace, both scholastically and socially, the rest of the year passed smoothly and successfully. Among the red letter events came our period of apprenticeship in the "caf" under the sympathetic direction of Mrs. Dorsey and her assistants, and our class dance, held in March at which we outshone Peacock Alley in elegance. Now at the end of the year, on a retrospective mood, we point with considerable pride to our progress along scholastic lines and, looking forward as a class, we pat ourselves with our customary vigor on our respective backs and wish ourselves, lots of good luck for the coming year.

THE LIBRARY AND SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

THE duplex organization over the way, self-contained within its own building in the midst of its enfolding park, expressing its individuality by its "splendid isolation", is essentially a triple affair. Though set apart from the complexity of buildings that house the other Schools, the Library is closely interlocked with every interest across the street, so that though we can hardly say that the Schools of the Institute belong to one another, it can be confidently asserted that the Library does belong to every one of them. Thus it is strictly the Library of Pratt Institute.

Then, it was the Founder's purpose to establish a free library for the people of Brooklyn, when there was no other in the city, so it has continued for over forty-five years to be the Library of everyone who cares to come to it.

Its third element, which gives the Library organization the ranking of a School at the Institute, is its Class of students in the theory, technique and practice of librarianship, the second library school in the country in priority of founding, and the first continuing unchanged in character, policy and location. Its strength and prestige has been gained in a large measure by the limitation and selection of its members and the command of a well-ordered library as its laboratory.

The Library of the Institute, the Free Library for the People of Brooklyn, the School of Library Science form that unit which has become the fourth prime element at Pratt Institute.

THE youngest class for some time, we came with youthful enthusiasm, energy, and, we must confess, ignorance, for most of us lacked the previous library training which many members of other classes had. Wise in their experience, the faculty bore with us, kindly suffered our sometimes almost boisterous spirits, redirected our misdirected energy, showed us the methods and pointed out our professional way, as well as sustained our enthusiasms. To them we owe our gratitude and to the library staff also for its patient forbearance with our first clumsy efforts in practical work.

Memories of many things will be carried away with us—of the many interesting personalities at the lectures, of the Graduates' reception and luncheon, the moments of relaxation on the roof, the lovely old park. Then, too, the forthcoming spring trip will add many more memories of people and places.

But above all other things we shall carry with us the consciousness that to this class was granted the privilege of joining in one of the pioneer movements of the profession. For although small in itself we hope that our Book Selection problem which made a survey of reading tastes in five branches of the New York Public Library will aid in the eventual determination of what people actually read.

THAT thing known as "depression" failed completely in slowing down our social whirl this year. The following program will show that we were soon spinning merrily on our way as the social ball was given a gentle shove and we started the season with our afternoon "howdy" dances.

F. & A. A.

The Palettes conceived the most unusual idea and scored one of their first successes with their Leap Year Dance, the girls scurrying around finding their own dancing partners. Then came their Hallowe'en masquerade dance and they actually succeeded in getting their guests to mask, and like it!

The Artsmen also scored several points with their afternoon dances, the Rodeo Dance given early in March being the most outstanding success. The walls were covered with caricatures of several of the art instructors and other well known people. Mr. Wallien of the art school delighted the guests with some real cowboy songs.

The Architects, keeping up their outstanding social reputation gave their annual Fall Dance with the thought of a Mardi Gras celebration.

S. & T.

The Mechanicals, or "Boilermakers", had the honor of starting the evening dances with the Boilermakers Hop, and as usual have been responsible for some of the seasons best planned affairs.

The Electricals, first and second year classes each sponsored a dance, both taking place in the beginning of the year. Their joint dance was given early in May, and needless to say, all three were most successful and enjoyable.

The Chemicals have also made their mark on the social calendar and many will remember the formal in March given by the Wholer society as one of "the" dances of the school year.

H. S. & A.

The Dieticians Valentine Dance was a red letter affair being one of several evening dances given by them. The tea room was open and those who wished could enjoy cards and smoking between the dances.

The Glee Clubs have also been strongly represented in the social whirl. They introduced entertainment between numbers at their dances by singing several songs and presenting specialty dances. The operetta "Pinafore" which the combined glee clubs presented was one of the years social highlights.

The whole school is looking forward with great anticipation to the annual Senior Prom. which is to be held at the Waldorf Astoria Roof Garden in May. It will bring our social whirl to a most satisfactory close with one last brilliant spin.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

THE purpose of the Student Council is to promote and encourage all student activities connected with the school and to develop and maintain the interest of the students in these activities.

The class Presidents during this term, have striven to uphold this purpose by informing the entire student body of various school activities, arousing enthusiasm and creating and instilling in it Pratt Spirit.

The Council started the year with an informal social at the Women's Club, which was followed a few weeks later by a closed afternoon dance on December 19th.

The Glee Clubs this year altered their regular routine by giving two evening dances. Entertainment was provided by the Glee Clubs during the intermission. The combined Clubs under the direction of Mr. Tebbs, presented "Pinafore" early in the Spring. The Thursday noon services have been very well attended this year and the Glee Clubs have proved helpful in leading the singing of the hymns.

The New Orchestra, under the supervision of Mr. Fletcher, is now under way and progressing rapidly. The orchestra aided the Glee Clubs in their production of "Pinafore".

A committee has been selected to choose the most outstanding students, whose names will appear on the Plaque.

Plans are being made for the annual Senior Prom which is now, undoubtedly, a fixed part in the graduation program of the school.

Among other Spring activities, the council is planning another outing. This will bring our school year to a close and although we leave regretfully, our wishes are many to the council of 1934 for a most successful year.

THE WOHLER CHEMICAL SOCIETY

THE Wohler Society opened the year's activities with a Welcome Smoker held at the Men's Club. Informal meetings held throughout the year helped to bring the members of the two chemistry classes together in a better spirit of good fellowship. Motion pictures and speakers which were shown and presented at the meetings provided profitable entertainment and knowledge of chemical industries.

Added merit and esteem should go to the officers of the society for the wonderful program which was presented at the Science and Technology Convention held on the 19th of April. This year's Convention was run under the supervision of the Wohler Society.

According to tradition the Society's annual formal dance was held in March. This bit of gay social display was followed in May by a Farewell Banquet.

PRATT INSTITUTE BRANCH OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

THE Pratt Institute Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers has completed another successful year. The student branch offers an opportunity to the students to present papers at the meetings and also to hear men from the electrical field talk on subjects of engineering interest.

The Electrical Association was formed by the electrical classes in 1901, and through the earnest efforts of Mr. Arthur L. Cook the association became affiliated with the American Institute of Electrical Engineers as a branch in 1930.

The counselor and officers extend their thanks to the student body for its support and wish the greatest success to the new men for a successful program next year.

PRATT BRANCH OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

THE school year nineteen thirty-two, thirty-three marked another forward step in the trend of student relations with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The parent society advanced its relations with colleges by inaugurating a new plan whereby a student by paying a small membership fee might become a member of his college branch. This membership affords the student practically all privileges enjoyed by the senior members.

Interest of the senior society in student activities was further demonstrated by a visit from the President of the A. S. M. E. by whose presence the Pratt branch was greatly honored.

The keen interest shown by the class of nineteen thirty-four in branch activities indicates that they will carry on the progress made by former branches.

THE sixth annual convention of the combined engineering schools was conducted with clock like precision on April nineteenth under the able direction of the School of Chemistry.

Each years marks an appreciable step in the progress of the conventions which is attributed to the hard work, planning and foresight on the part of the executive committee, faculty advisers and sub-committee men whose entire co-operation is indispensable.

THE WOMEN'S CLUB

THE Club functions as ever, welcoming all the girls of Pratt to cook, wash, sew, read, entertain, and relax.

The noon hour has been especially busy this year, the dining room being full to overflowing and the kitchen a "hub-bub" of cooks.

Besides frequent teas there have been evening parties and "get-together" suppers. After these delicious meals the Club has been entertained informally by speakers on subjects of especial interest. The birthday party was held on March 15th, celebrating the Club's 19th year of existence.

Many graduates join the Club, having the same privileges as full time students, so its conveniences are not limited and are enjoyed after close contact with the school has normally ceased.

At the Club, girls from all departments meet and make new friendships, besides being able to continue the old. All are welcome and at ease. Hospitality reigns!

THE Men's Club under the direction of the Executive Committee has made an endeavor to place the facilities of the Club at all times at the disposal of the students and to make the Club as attractive as possible.

The Club has been a meeting place for the students to gather in a social way during the noon hour and after school. Many have taken advantage of the reading rooms while others have participated in bowling and pool. Tournaments in these sports have been conducted through the winter months. An employment bureau has been maintained and in spite of labor conditions many have been helped into positions of one kind or another.

The Club has been a social pillar of the school for many years. We hope the day will not be far distant when it may have new quarters to carry on its activities and to serve its members.

THE ARCHITECTS

THE Architects have made another year of interesting history for the Architectural Department. This organization made up of the three architectural classes in the department has a reputation to be proud of in the Institute.

The social, athletic and educational programs are the reasons for success. The social programs were under "Charlie" Schade's direction and the educational programs under the direction of "Charlie" Spiess.

Some of the interesting times afforded to the Architects were: The "get-to-gether" Smoker at the beginning of the scholastic year where new students are acquainted with the upper classmen, the dances for which the Architects have acquired an exceptional reputation, and the banquets with their fine food and outstanding guests of the profession.

To sum up the entire activities of the Architects, who have as the Faculty Advisor Mr. Frank O. Price, it would be unnecessary to say that this successful year will ever be remembered by the Architects.

THIS year has been most successful for the Paletteers both socially and educationally.

We have had several interesting speakers who have helped in a large measure to supplement our art education.

At Christmas time we did our bit of social service work by dressing more than one hundred dolls for charity.

Our social year has been a triumph. We started off the afternoon dances with a leap-year dance. It was such a success it seems a shame to have to wait four years for another. Teas and dinners have been frequent and enjoyable due to the wonderful co-operation of the girls and the committee heads.

THE '33 artsmen have closed another year in which we feel we have attained outstanding success in fulfilling the purposes of our organization, creating and holding an interest in general art, social affairs, school and athletic activities.

In general art we started the season with an exhibition of the students summer work and followed with the work of many prominent artists some of whom were secured for a lecture telling the students what to expect when they finished their course and just what is going on in the field of art today.

Our social affairs have met with outstanding success and we are confident that our annual dance which was given in March will long be remembered as something different.

OUR athletic program at the Institute during the past year has been conducted as heretofore, and was affected little if at all by the prevailing hard times. On the other hand there was a distinct falling off in attendance at basketball games scheduled for Friday nights with a corresponding loss in income. This was due in large measure to an increased percentage of commuters in our student body.

Our athletics continued to interest a large number of our men who went out for the various teams both inter-class and varsity. I believe firmly that such participation contributes not only to the physical well being of those concerned, but is instrumental in the development of valuable traits of character, traits which are more quickly developed and possessed through athletics than possibly in any other way. The purpose of athletics as given by Knute Rockne is to develop good habits of living, to develop a fine sense of fair play, to develop a perseverance so intense that there is never a temptation to let up before the actual contest is over, and last of all to develop the "will to win" so keenly you can taste it. In such times of stress as these such a spirit is worth fighting for.

The Fall sports opened with soccer football. The Artsmen captured this championship winning one hundred percent of their scheduled games. In swimming the Artsmen won again making the fifth consecutive year in which they have taken this event. The third inter-class championship also went to the art school when the Artsmen defeated the second year Electricals in basketball. The annual contest between the S. & T. members of the varsity basketball squad and those of the Art School was won decisively by the Artsmen. The following pages give a more detailed account of our varsity and inter-class games.

ORGANIZED in 1922, the Athletic Council has consistently carried out its intended objectives. As the Council is composed of representatives from each class in the Institute, the interest in inter-class athletics organized and matured. It has handled an extensive business program throughout the year and in spite of the "depression" has tendered awards to the Institute's athletes.

With the services of Mr. Ajootian, Mr. Fred Wright, and Mr. Hostetter as faculty advisors, many perplexing problems have been solved. It is our sincerest hope that this Council will carry on and improve the inter-class and varsity athletics, bigger and better, for the future.

AT the beginning of the season, the outlook for our varsity basketball team was not very encouraging for Coach McKillop as he surveyed a meager squad of probable material.

Eight veterans were lost through graduation but two seasoned athletes who played substitute roles last year were on hand once more. The two hold-overs are Captain Harry Bassett and Delbert Timm.

The gloom that ordinarily would prevail with lack of veterans was cast aside when Johnny Reiser made his presence known. Reiser proved to be true to his reputation in being a dynamo on the offense besides possessing corking all-court aggressiveness. Then Munklewicz and Mandl were surely lucky finds for capable guards. This already mentioned group of players were backed up by Condit, Geiser, Cummings, Verse, Pond and McKee to form a new but diminutive varsity squad.

Although the quintet only won six out of fifteen starts Coach McKillop can feel proud of having coached such a team that is able to win a game after trailing twenty-nine to twenty-seven with almost a minute to play as was exhibited in the climaxing season game with Lowell Textile.

Harry Crump, our manager, is to be congratulated for his handling of the business side of the game in helping to make the following schedule possible.

V A R S I T Y B A S K E T B A L L

Cooper Union—18

Pratt—40

Led by Johnny Reiser, who scored twenty-nine points, Pratt opened its campaign with a victory over old rivals. From the outset it was clearly evident that Cooper Union was out-classed in all departments of the game.

Dickinson College—27

Pratt—21

This game was far less thrilling than last year's exhibition. The Dickinson team outplayed Pratt in the final half to earn a deserved victory. It was also clearly evident that Pratt was not playing up to their exhibited standard.

Springfield College—30

Pratt—28

Pratt made an impressive but unsuccessful bid to defeat a team of much greater physical capacity. The diminutive Pratt five played snappy basketball but were stopped by a well schooled team after an attempt rally in the final minutes of play.

Trinity College—26

Pratt—25

A lucky shot in the last few minutes of play made Trinity the winners. The lead changed several times throughout the contest. The Pratt five played good basketball and were leading at the time of the fatal shot.

Brooklyn Poly—26

Pratt—25

Pratt played a snappy floor game behind Munklewicz's corking pop-shots. It looked as though Pratt would emerge the winner in this contest but again they were nosed out in the final moments after playing on fairly even terms with their opponents.

*Stamford University Club—37

Pratt—34

This was the first game Pratt played away and it was against far superior competition. The black and gold were hampered by the great defense the opposition presented. Reiser and Munklewicz's pop-shots enabled Pratt at least to amble along and trail the victors.

Rhode Island State—41

Pratt—36

The Pratt five outplayed their opponents but were unable to do much after four players of the regular squad were banished from the game because of personal fouls. It was evident that the game was made difficult by poor refereeing and this caused Pratt to drop the second game of their road trip.

Lowell Textile—52 Pratt—34

Playing the third game of their road trip Pratt was defeated. It was obviously seen that the Pratt five was weakened because of the strain of those road games on successive nights. Nevertheless the diminutive quintet offered real opposition to their opponents so as to at least make it a contest.

Crescent A. C.—34 Pratt—23

Stepping into fast basketball company Pratt fought on even terms with their contestants during the first half. The Pratt defensive clicked perfectly until the opening of the second half when the Brooklyn rivals stepped away and piled up a comfortable margin to make an easy victory.

The scrappy and versatile forward Johnny Reiser again showed his basketball wares by snatching a needed victory for Pratt. The black and gold were in the lead practically throughout the contest but in the closing minutes of play their opponents' offense spurted only to be repelled by Pratt's clever defense.

University of Delaware—35 Pratt—27

This game was marred several times by unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of the visiting team. Although Pratt was behind by the score of eight to twenty-one as the half time period closed, this score was challenged by a series of cagey floor shots by Munklewicz which caused the Pratt five to outscore their opponents in the final period by five points.

University of Baltimore—21 Pratt—41

Both teams opened the game by feeling each other out for weak spots with Baltimore starting the scoring with a foul shot. Then Pratt's offense cut loose to ring up a score of thirty-one to four at the half period time. The second half was somewhat slower in play but the Pratt defense remained impenetrable against a physically weak group of opponents.

The Pratt quintet crushed the former Pratt players under an avalanche of shots. Spectators were given a treat in seeing Reiser romp away to score twenty-seven points, thirteen from the foul line missing four free times. The Alumni were completely dazzled by the amazing speed of the Pratt five.

Brooklyn Poly—22

Pratt—24

Carrying on the twenty-second year of traditional rivalry, Pratt turned the tables on their old opponents to avenge a defeat received early in the season. Pratt was behind at the half time period by the score of fourteen to eight but behind Johnny Reiser's shooting Pratt came back strong in the second half to score a victory.

Lowell Textile—29

Pratt—32

Although the crowd was small at this game, those few who were there witnessed a brilliant feat in seeing Johnny Reiser pull a game out of the fire. Pratt was trailing twenty-nine to twenty-seven when Reiser who had been doing most of the scoring, let fly two field shots, and a foul ball found their mark to yield five points and furnish the margin of victory.

DUUE to the lateness in the baseball season it has been deemed necessary to include the previous year's record in order that Prattonia might come out on schedule. This idea will be carried on in the future and it will permit a complete baseball record for succeeding editions.

An early call for varsity baseball candidates was made, and consequently all the try-outs carried on their spring training in the gym. This gave Coach McKillop an opportunity to pick some lively rookies to supplant his varsity material from last season.

The opening of the schedule indicated that with "Frankie" Boemerman on the mound and a continuance of good stick work, we would see Pratt well on the way to baseball honors.

Pratt was to have opened up the season with St. Stephen's but inclement weather prevented the contest.

City College of New York was Pratt's first victim after coming from behind to deadlock the score at four all in the seventh inning and then to win the game in the eighth by the score of four to five. Pratt sure did some hard hitting.

The Black and Gold renewed old relations by defeating Stevens, six to two. The large crowd in attendance was given an opportunity to see some good pitching by Boemerman who was in top-notch form. Poor fielding by Stevens also gave Pratt the important breaks.

Although Pratt went down in defeat before Providence College by the score of seven to one, Boemerman, the strong right-handed hurler fanned fourteen men and knocked a home run to give Pratt the only score.

The following schedule was arranged by Manager Scofield. The results of these games are also included:

In the early fall, Walter Rau, Varsity Cheer-leader, sounded the annual clarion which was to call ten ambitious young men to his competition for the squad. Two months of arduous training eventually led to the choosing of "Chubby" Jones and "Dick" Foster as assistants to "Walt". With the return of one of last years' quartet, a complete squad of four fellows was made. It was with reluctance that Mr. Rau and Mr. A. Foster concluded their period at mid-year, although the capable "Al" Mercier made up their loss in part. The season was completed and each man had had the privilege of leading the others at at least one game.

During the half-time period of each game the singing of the Alma Mater, an age-old tradition, was continued. The cheer-leaders wish to thank the group which attended the games and which showed such fine support.

THE senior class of Mechanical Engineers won the Inter-class Bowling Championship by being victorious in every game on their schedule.

The team was composed of such veteran bowlers as Henry Bernadt, Captain, Roger Reath, Edgar Hobbs, Nicholas Cappello, Frank Bares, and were ably assisted by their manager, Herbert Fischer.

This array of bowlers not only won the tournament with ease but also set a new all time record for high team score in their very last game of the season.

A year ago this ambitious team was nosed out by the Chemical Engineers by the slim margin of one pin. The determination to win this year was a very decided factor in bringing the championship back to the Mechanical Class.

D U C K I N S

THE Interclass Duck Pin Bowling Championship was won by the second year Mechanicals who swept through the entire bowling season without defeat.

It had been a habit with the "Boiler Makers" to hold the crown in bowling. However, their long string of victories was broken last year by the Chemists.

In addition to their skill, the determination to restore the crown to the Mechanical class contributed greatly to their success.

The team of the victors was composed of Henry Bernadt, Captain, Frank Bares, Ralph Brandely, Roger Reath, Nicholas Cappello, and Goesta Hultin, with their manager Herbert Fischer taking care of the business interests.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

CLIMAXING a most victorious sporting season, the triple-threat Artsmen defeated the Electrical II to win for the first time in the history of inter-class play, the much coveted Basketball Championship.

As a result of winning the first half of the tournament from the Chemicals the Artsmen remained in the running for the finals.

The second half, by far the most exciting, saw many upsets with the eventual decision resting in the arms of the Electricals, the result of a playoff with the Architects. The Championship was then between the Artsmen and Electricals.

One of the most spectacular games in the series was the final game which the Artists won by a well-earned margin.

The Artsmen's victory is attributed to their sportsmanlike attitude and the strength of their reserve material who will return "en masse" with the exception of their captain, ■ star center.

It was gratifying to note the number of people who turned out to witness the inter-class jousts—may the same be said in later years.

INTER-CLASS SWIMMING

BREAKING a triple tie, the Artsmen took their fifth consecutive swimming title. The Chemists and First Year Mechanics furnished the closest competition to date. The main strength of the Artsmen was in their record breaking relay team. Friedman, Lysack, Zalinsky and Captain Paul splashed through to clinch each victory. Tompkins, Begonis and Bode piled up their share of points in the medley.

The teams were coached by Marty Fowler whose guidance has perfected the form of many an aspiring natator.

THIS year Pratt Institute will be on the headlines again with the fighting spirit which was unknown a few years ago as far as boxing was concerned, of course the boys of Pratt were always known in other activities, but very little known in boxing. The boys who have joined the boxing class that was coached by Joe Wincze and assisted by Philip Roberts have shown great improvement in a short time, and it must be said that a great deal of credit is due to Coach Wincze who has tried his utmost to teach the boys. Of course the purpose of the boxing class is not to train the boys to become professional fighters, but merely for the purpose of self-defense, and to develop powerful lungs that would aid in resisting fatigue.

The beginning of the school season was spent in organizing the boxing team and training the raw material which came in with the first call for members. At the beginning of the second term, the boxing team began its season and produced a record crowd each time at the gym where the bouts were held.

Mr. Roberts, I.M.E. '34, seems to be the most promising contender for the coaching position next year. Other team members who have received a good knowledge of the manly art of self-defense and sportsmanship are Chin, Triolo, Macholz and Wood, all of whom are in the graduating class this year.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

THE activities program of the Department of Physical Education for Women at Pratt Institute is organized for the three seasons—a short fall and spring season with a longer winter period in the gymnasium from Thanksgiving to April. In the fall all women students in both the schools of Household Science and Arts and Fine and Applied Arts are in field hockey, basketball, volley ball or swimming according to choice. In the spring baseball is substituted for hockey.

The sports periods close with elimination games between the class groups and swimming meets. Last fall the results were as follows:

Basketball won by Junior Dietetics from Design I—Teacher Training II—III, 15-17.

Volley ball won by Third Year Arts from Senior Dietetics, 64-34.

Swimming meet was tied by H.S. & A. and F. & A. A. teams, 29-29.

Senior Life Saving Tests were passed by the following:

Cathryn Bowman, T.T. III

Elsa Kuersteiner, P.I. III

Elizabeth Morell, T.T. III

Dorothea Stangle, Arch. II

The Inter-School Gymnastic Meet coming in April was won last spring by School of Fine and Applied Arts from the School of Household Science and Arts with a score of 33.1 to 31.5.

THE Rest House can well be praised for its good administering to its slightly ill and dejected personages who have been its patrons. In those months in the middle of the scholastic year when the Institute reeks with over-worked minds and sore throats, the rendering of services by Miss Hale and Miss Hatch can well be considered motherly. This is not all we must consider when we speak of the Rest House since it also carries on a large business in the ordinary required first-aid hurts.

The new students who come to the Institute and have fallen a victim of some illness and need attention often shirk their duty by not seeking out this health center at 244 Vanderbilt Avenue. But once they become customers, it is often hard to keep them away from a place that makes mother nature return to neutral zones in the way of perfect physical ability.

Alice Phyllis Wynn, an active member of the Senior Costume Design Class of 1933, passed away on February 4, 1933. Her death came as a deep sorrow to the faculty and students of her class.

Miss Wynn's home was in Worcester, Massachusetts. She entered the School of Household Science and Arts at Pratt Institute upon graduation from the Commerce High School of Worcester. When taken ill in November 1932, Miss Wynn was completing her second year of Costume Design.

While at Pratt Institute a bright, lovable personality had won for her, warm friends among both faculty and students. Throughout a long illness, her calm serenity and lovely, radiant smile remained. Miss Wynn's great courage and enduring patience is immortal to those with whom she came in contact.

No more fitting benediction can be given than that which is very rare in hospitals, the final note on her record—"God grant her peace."
